DEMAND FOR SEWERS SHOWS CITY'S GROWTH

Many New Sewers Laid This Year—Estimates for Paving in 1914—Low Death Rate

Lowell's growth for the last year has been quite a healthy one and the very best evidence of it is found in the city engineer's office in the form of petitions for new sewers. More sewer work has been done and the demand for sewers, mostly new sewers, has been greater than for a great many years. The fact that speaks well for the building up of different sections of the city. Sewers have been laid in 31 streets in widely different parts of the city and new sewers, as a rule, mean new homes.

The street department has laid 9510 linear feet of sewer this year and there are yet 2860 feet to be laid as per plans outlined at the beginning of the year. The longest stretch of relaid pipe was in Gorham street. The distance there was 925 feet.

Estimate For Paving
Commissioner Donnelly is preparing estimates for street paving in 1914 and the estimate for Elm street, from Gorham street to Central street, has already been prepared. Old blocks, on

HELD BIG RALLY

Candidates Were Out in Force at South End Club Last Night

One of the biggest rallies of the present campaign was held at the South End club rooms in Gorham street last night. The club president, Thomas H. Donoghue, presided. The speakers included Mayor James E. O'Donnell, Commissioners Barrett and Cummings; Dennis J. Murphy, candidate for mayor; Charles J. Morse, Martin P. Conley, Smith J. Adams and Charles T. McKenzie, aldermanic candidates and Dr. J. Joseph McGreevy, James C. Kelly and John T. Durkin, candidates for the school board. The hall was crowded and the crowd remained to hear all of the speakers.

Candidates fired hot shot at one another but there was no blood shed. The men on the inside defended their administration and said it allowed to remain in they would continue to perform faithful service and the fellows on the outside said if they were let in they would put Lowell on easy street, or words to that effect.

Besides the rally at the South End club there were meetings in various other places throughout the city and a majority of the candidates made open-air speeches. The battle of words was resumed at the noon hour today and will continue tonight. The last word before the elections will be spoken Monday night.

Dr. Mignault
At the request of the members of the Polish club in Coburn street, Dr. Mignault, candidate for mayor, called at the club house last night, and addressed a gathering consisting of about 200 voters. The doctor spoke on his program, and in the course of his talk touched upon the city's financial condition as well as the doings of the departments. He was warmly applauded in the course of his address, and at the close of his remarks, he was given three cheers.

We should have a quiet campaign if all the candidates adopted Edward Cowley's platform—"more business and less talk."

In selecting candidates for the school board two things should be remembered. First select a candidate who has the necessary education and second one who can be relied upon not to stoop to graft in making appointments. The duty of the voter in this matter is of the highest importance and it should be conscientiously performed.

Although we have a non-partisan government, it looks as if republicans were getting back to their old bearings and rallying to the support of James H. McKinley, candidate for mayor.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING AT JUAREZ TODAY

City Captured by Rebels, Who Now Control Half of Mexico—American Embassy Will be Withdrawn—Foreign Powers Join U.S. to Oust Huerta

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 15.—Ciudad Juarez, the most important northern port of entry in Mexico, was captured by constitutionalists under General Pancho Villa and General Maclovio Herrera early today with small loss on either side. The occupation of Juarez by rebels began at 2.30 o'clock after the men under Villa and Herrera had reached the town in trains thought to be carrying federal soldiers to the garrison. The rebels detained unharmed, placed their artillery and soon had everything in readiness to fight. At the first volley the astounded government troops were assembled and returned the fire, engaging in a battle which lasted for two hours. Bullets fell thick in El Paso and all the residents here were awakened by the crash of heavy artillery firing. Americans were kept from the danger zone by the detachment of United States

15th cavalry, on patrol duty under Major R. E. Ritchie and so far as known no Americans were wounded. The formal surrender of the city to the constitutionalists was at 5 o'clock when the federal commander threw himself and his soldiers on the mercy of the victorious rebels. At once bands began playing on the streets and the town rang with "Vivas" for the conquerors.

Clever Work Done by Rebels
It was by one of the cleverest stratagems in the history of Mexican warfare that Juarez was taken. General Villa, with Gen. Herrera were reported to be attacking the town of Chihuahua. Federalists rushed to the reinforcement of the Chihuahua garrison but Villa never really pushed his attack there. Trains were made ready to convey his army into Juarez last night while all federal officers in northern Mexico believed him to be exerting every energy to take Chihuahua.

Leaving a small force of men there, he took 7000 of his troops on board the train which reached Juarez at the time a federal troop train expected. Not once was he challenged.

Under cover of darkness the rebels surrounded the town save the river front, that next to the American border, and a concerted attack was made with the artillery doing much of the work. The federalists were so completely demoralized by the attack that they offered no serious resistance.

Three Americans Killed
Colonel Cano, spokesman for the rebels, told the Associated Press today that he had no idea of the number killed and wounded in the engagement, but did not believe the loss was heavy.

HURL HAMMERS AT JUDGE'S HEAD

Women Raise Disturbance When Militant Was Sentenced

Also Smashed Windows and Doors—4 Arrested After Struggle

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Women hurled hammers at the judge in the court of Old Bailey today when he sentenced Rachael Peace, a militant suffragette, to 18 months' imprisonment after she had been found guilty by the jury of setting fire and badly damaging a mansion at Hampton-on-Thames near London on October 4.

A crowd of women had gathered in the courtroom and frequently interrupted the proceedings. On the pronouncement of the sentence they not only threw hammers at the judge's head but smashed several windows and glass doors.

Four of the disturbers were arrested after a hard struggle with the police.

STEAMER ON FIRE AT SEA

Spanish Steamer Balmes is Burning in the North Atlantic

Passengers Transferred to Cunarder Panonia, Reports Wireless

CAPE RACE, N. Y., Nov. 15.—The Spanish steamer Balmes is on fire in the north Atlantic and her passengers have been transferred to the Cunarder Panonia, according to a wireless from the Panonia today.

The Balmes is a freighter of 230 tons. It is believed that she carried few passengers. She sailed from Havana, Nov. 6 for Cadiz and Barcelona, Spain.

The Panonia is due in New York on Sunday from the Mediterranean. The message received by the operator here made no mention of the crew of the Balmes.

ALL PASSENGERS SAVED

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A message from Bermuda to the Cunard line this afternoon said that the Panonia reported by wireless that she was escorting to Bermuda the Spanish steamer Balmes, which was on fire on a critical condition. All the passengers of the Balmes, 103 in number, are on the Panonia and all well.

FLAMES ARE STILL RAGING

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Meagre wireless despatches received today told of the rescue in the mid-Atlantic of one hundred and three passengers from the Spanish steamer Balmes, which is on fire, by the Cunarder Panonia. Though the flames were still raging today the Balmes crew were presumably sticking by their vessel, which, conveyed by the Panonia, was making for Bermuda. The steamers should reach Bermuda some time today.

Where, how or when fire broke out on the Balmes was not disclosed. She was bound for Spain from Galveston and Havana with a highly inflammable cargo of cotton and rum when the Cunarder, bound either from Mediterranean ports came to her assistance.

COLLIER WITH CREW LOST

The Bridgeport, With Cargo of 10,000 Tons of Coal Wrecked

Believed That All Have Perished in Icy Waters of St. Lawrence

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—The steam collier Bridgeport, sailing from Sidney, Cape Breton, with a crew of 42 and a cargo of 10,000 tons of coal, has been lost and probably all aboard have perished, according to an announcement today by the Dominion Coal Co., which chartered the vessel.

Wreckage found on the shores of Bird Rock island in the St. Lawrence river told the story of the tragedy and warrant the presumption that the lost vessel was the Bridgeport. No word of the crew had been received and the opinion prevailed that they met death in the icy waters of the St. Lawrence.

The Bridgeport sailed from Sydney on Nov. 5 with coal for Montreal. Brown, Jenkins & Co. of London are the Bridgeport's owners.

PRINCETON AND YALE DARTMOUTH-CARLISLE

Big Football Games are on—New Haven and New York Crowded—Full Account in Next Edition

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 15.—The annual football clash between Princeton and Yale brought into the realm of the mythical bulldog today 35,000 followers of the most popular of college sports. The weather conditions were ideal. Yesterday's light rain, which threatened another greasy gridiron, was followed today by clear, cool skies while the field was pronounced to be in fine shape.

Some 5000 or more of the spectator army reached New Haven last night but the main body of pigskin followers including practically the entire Princeton undergraduate list streamed into the city during the forenoon. At least a third made the journey by motorcar and for several hours today New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania cars rivaled in number those from Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Princeton Favorite

Princeton ruled a slight favorite during the forenoon but the earlier odds of 10 to 7 were hammered to 7 to 4 by liberal offers of Blue coin based on the feeling that Yale had "come back."

It was the first time in years that both Yale and Princeton faced each other with the "Tigers" pronounced favorite.

Yet despite the almost disastrous preliminary season it seemed to be the opinion of experts that the game on Yale field this afternoon would uncover some of the finest exhibitions of strategic football seen on the gridiron in many years. It was felt that both elevens would be compelled to use the maximum amount of generalship, strength and knowledge of the fundamentals of the game in order to win. For Princeton the game was the final one of the season and with everything to win and very little to lose it was expected that the entire gamut of Tiger plays would be disclosed.

Crimson Scouts on Hand

For Yale, however, with the Harvard contest a week hence, there was the realization that the stands and the side lines held a score of the keenest of Crimson scouts eager to diagnose the strength and weakness of the Elis' game. The game today spelled fun for the great wooden area which for more than a quarter of a century has been the scene of so many victories and so many Yale defeats. Out to the northward the arriving crowd saw the rising walls of the new Yale bowl. The big structure is said to be ready for the Harvard game next year and to hold the greatest crowd that has ever attended a sporting event in this country.

The two teams spent the night somewhat removed from the hurly burly of New Haven hotels and clubs. The Yale players went out to the infirmary for a quiet night, while the Princeton team remained in Greenwich, coming over on one of the morning trains and having lunch in their car. Reports from the two camps indicated that every man was in the usual fit condition.

The announced lineup was as follows:

Yale	Princeton
Avery	McDonald
Barber	Phillips
Ketchum	Stewart
Manning	Trenkman
Ward	Seaman
Ward	Ballin
Wilson	qb Fick
Wingard	rb Law
Knicker	rb Baker
Bunn	fb Street

Officials: Referee, W. S. Langford; Trinity; umpire, Neal Snow of Michigan; head linesman, D. L. Fullz of Brown.

Beautiful Decorations
As usual New Haven arrayed itself for the game with shop windows liberally decked in blue and in orange and black, while here and there life-like tigers and bulldogs faced each other in miniature footballs. The hackmen did a thriving business and the punch counters were jammed from early forenoon until almost game time.

Many of the spectators' parties, however, lunched either in their seats on the stands or in their autos about the grounds while the big field between the old stands and the new bowl was a vast picnic ground for a couple of hours before the first ringing cheer.

Special trains, 17 in number, brought in the main body of the spectators at noon nearly all from the direction of New York, although trains from the north and east were heavily patronized by Harvard men anxious for a line on the blue team.

Sing "He Rambled"

The Princeton undergraduate body marched into the city confident of success and with several new songs of the usual stirring variety. Many New Haveners recalled the departure of the Orange and Black host ten years ago when John Dewitt's right foot enabled the Tigers to win and the undergraduates to sing the memorable "He Rambled" song of victory.

The march to the field began on Chapel street, with the noon whistles.

The early arrivals in the stands found the field in magnificent condition. The morning sun had done its work in drying the turf so that the bare spots were almost dusty.

Strong Wind Blew

A northerly wind which sprang up during the morning was blowing straight down the field at an eight knot gale just before the whistle sounded, giving an advantage to the kickers at that end of the field. This was counterbalanced, however, by the fact that the sun shone on the backs of the defenders of the North goal.

The stands filled fairly rapidly and half an hour before the teams appeared the musicians on the Yale side of the field gave a stirring concert. The undergraduates on both sides reserved their lung powers until just before the game started.

Much of the time before the game was spent by many of the veteran players fighting over former football battles and there was a small army of men who have made Yale and Princeton football history on the two sidelines.

Players Don Uniforms

The two teams arrived in the locker buildings shortly after ten o'clock and donned their football togs leisurely.

DARTMOUTH-CARLISLE GAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The transformed Polo grounds made its debut in football today. The game there between Dartmouth and Carlisle was the first important contest seen for several years. The choice seats today were in the center of the field, opposite what a month ago were first and third bases. Followers of the game were favored with ideal football weather, clear and cold. Dartmouth was a favorite in the betting.

An innovation was the numbering of the players. In response to requests of spectators and newspapermen, the Dartmouth management consented to let their players wear numbers on their backs. Other colleges, however, refused to adopt this plan on the ground it would help opponents to diagnose their plays. The Carlisle players were not numbered.

The lineup:

Dartmouth	Carlisle
Hogsett	Wagner
Pudritt	Welman
Bier	g Bull
Trunk	g Carlow
Colby	g Busch
McAulliffe	rt Lookaround
Louden	rt Vederwald
Gray	rt Welch
Whitney	rt Guyon
Curtis	rb Brackley
Murdick	fb Calach

STATE GRANGES SUE FOR CAT BITE SLEPT WITH DOG

Reports Were Read at Session in Manchester Today

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 15.—The National Grange having completed the work of exemplifying the sixth and seventh degrees today resumed its usual order of routine work and devoted both morning and afternoon sessions to the reports of masters of state granges and standing committees. All new business suggested in the reports was referred to committees and will be brought up for debate and disposal at next week. A larger number by 2863 than ever before received the seventh degree was obligated. The total number was 5573. The movement to reimburse George P. Blagden for money expended in his defense when the national grange attempted to have him expelled from its subordinate grange in Cranston, N. Y., is being much discussed. C. E. Kelahy of the Washington state grange and W. T. Cressy, master of the Pennsylvania state grange, both recognized as progressives in the grange are leading in the movement in Cranston's behalf. The grange today declined an invitation from the General Chamber of Commerce to be a guest this afternoon. Tonight Congressman Patrick of Ohio will address the grange on rural credits.

Man Asks $10,000 in First Case of Its Kind in Bay State

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—John O'Donnell, through his attorney, H. W. Harvey, has the distinction of bringing the first suit of its kind ever brought in this state. He has brought suit against George N. Black, a wealthy real estate owner of Beacon street, to recover for a cat bite.

He has attached the real estate of Mr. Black in the Suffolk county registry of deeds and places his damages at $10,000. Mr. O'Donnell claims that the cat, although he admitted that the suit was over a cat which made its home in one of Mr. Black's buildings.

According to some of the eye-witnesses, O'Donnell was on his way out of the building at 161 Tremont street, and was slightly stooped over when he was bitten on the leg by the cat. O'Donnell says a huge four-foot cat charged to him with its teeth.

Through heavy clothing the cat had driven its teeth and resisted to the utmost the frantic endeavors of O'Donnell to dislodge its hold. Finally after repeated blows the cat was thrown to the floor and O'Donnell turned towards the exit. He was moving fairly fast, it is said, as he heard the door, but the cat was the faster of the two. With a spring it renewed its attack and was only prevented from getting a new grip by the intervention of some people who were passing.

fearful of infection of some kind O'Donnell saw a physician at once and had the wound, which was a ragged one, attended to.

It is said that the cat has a blooded name as a fighter and is known for its prowess among its kind. On the day of its attack on O'Donnell, Oct. 15, it had just fought a cat which was round in the hallway of the building with another cat and had completely routed it. When O'Donnell came along he met it in the full flush of victory.

The cat, which is nondescript in color, is known about the building as a very dangerous animal and treacherous to acquaintances and strangers alike. It has made its home there. It is said for some months, being cared for by some one in the building.

FLEE FROM FIRE

A Candle on Banquet Table Causes $40,000 Loss at Beverly

BEVERLY, Nov. 15.—A candle falling on a tablecloth is believed to have caused a $40,000 fire loss about 8 o'clock last night just as 150 men and women of the Katakant Tribe of Red Men were assembling for a banquet and roll-call in their lodge rooms in the Rogers block, Cabot street.

The building was soon ablaze and five streams played for two hours before the fire was under control. All the guests made their escape.

The members were on the third floor about to go up one flight of stairs to the banquet hall, when the fire was discovered. Patrolman Roland Pickett, who was standing in front of the building, ran upstairs to tell the members that the banquet hall was in flames. He then went up to the fourth story, where a number of women were preparing the food, and he assisted them out of the building.

The people who were about to go upstairs to the banquet hall hurriedly seized their wraps and fled to the street. By the time the fire department arrived the banquet hall was a mass of flames. A number of firemen, while trying to get into the building, were overcome by smoke.

From the banquet hall the fire made its way into the hall of the American Mechanics, on the same floor, but was checked there before serious damage was done.

Occupants of the second story damaged by water were Beverly Gas and Electric company; Col. Charles L. Dodge, insurance; Mark A. Kearns, real estate and insurance; Dr. Edward P. McCourt.

On the street floor stores suffering damage by water were the Beverly News company, Woolworth Five and Ten Cent store, Durgin-Jacobs Clothing company, and the Newell Dry Goods company. The Beverly News company and the Woolworth store suffered the heaviest water loss.

Another account says that the fire was caused when a paper decoration blew against a gas jet, and the breeze which stirred it carried the flames along the table.

CRASH KILLS 3

Fourteen Others Hurt When Work Train Hits Engine

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 15.—Three workmen were killed and 14 others were injured, one seriously, in a collision between a work train and a spare engine on the tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad at Pittsfield Junction last night.

All were Italians, and some were known only by their check numbers.

The work train was proceeding toward the city on the main line, while the spare engine had just turned on to the main track from a siding when the collision occurred. Three of the workmen were standing on the tender of the engine drawing the work car. They were killed instantly.

The others were inside the car, the ends of which were piled high with ties. These ties were tipped over by the collision and the men were pinned beneath them. Only one of the 14 men recovered injuries thought to be serious. He is expected to die.

Responsibility for the accident had not been placed by the railroad of which last night.

Woman Who Preferred Canine to Husband Lost Support Case

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—"It was a dog that came between us," said Alvin E. Cook of 39 Newell street, Lynn, in explaining yesterday to Judge Edward B. O'Brien of the Lynn police court the charge of non-support that had been preferred against him by his wife, Florence.

"You see Judge it was like this," testified Mr. Cook in telling his troubles. "Mrs. Cook has a dog. It is named Fritz. The wife used to take him to bed with her. If I moved about in the night he would bite me. Also he had been. He would bite me, too. I got tired of it and kicked. It was no use. The wife said the dog always had gone to bed with her and always would. You see I work hard all day as an odd at the electric works, and I don't want to go to bed at night with a dog. Even if I kept only he would have to have dreams and bark in 'em. Finally I couldn't stand it any longer and one night just eight weeks ago today, I said either the dog would have to go or I would. She said she preferred the dog, so I left.

"If the dog had been an old one I would have waited for him to die. But this dog was a young one and he wouldn't die a natural death for a long while yet. About 15 years I figure, and that's too long to go without sleep. I leave it to you, Your Honor. I thought sometimes of having the dog die an accidental death, but knew if he did he would grow another. So I concluded to leave and here I am."

The judge looked sympathetic and said it was a sad story, if true. He called Mrs. Cook to the stand. She readily admitted the existence of the dog.

"Will you give up the dog for your husband?" he asked her.

"Emphatically no," she replied.

Whereupon the judge discharged Cook.

As Cook and his attorney left the court room they intimated Cook would change a divorce on the ground of cruelty. The cruelty consisting of the wife compelling her husband to sleep with the dog.

The Cooks have been married three years. She is good looking and 35. He is a large man and 45. Since the decision she has been living with a sister in Greenwood and he has been living in bachelor quarters, where they don't allow dogs.

GIBLIN IS GUILTY

60 Days' Sentence for Assaulting Boston Editor—Appeals

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Representative Thomas J. Giblin of East Boston was found guilty in the East Boston police court yesterday of assaulting Jas. E. Maguire, lawyer and editor of the East Boston Free Press, and was sentenced to serve two months in the house of correction by Judge Joseph H. Barnes.

Giblin appealed and was held in $500 for trial in the superior court. His wife furnished bonds for his appearance.

Mrs. Giblin Felicitated

When Judge Barnes pronounced the sentence of two months Mrs. Giblin, who was in the court room, fainted. Giblin rushed to her side and removed her to the waiting room of the court house where she was revived. Later they both left for their home on Orient Heights.

Mrs. Giblin testified that she had to take her children from the school where they were attending and place them in another, because the school children taunted them with taunting remarks, such as "Gib, the blood," and "Gib, the bracer."

Judge Barnes, in sentencing Giblin, said "I have given the case serious consideration, and much to my regret, I find that the assault was premeditated, that there was no justification for it, that it was brutal, that the injuries resultant were serious and that there has been no repentance shown." Sentence was then imposed.

PROTEST TAXES

Mt. Auburn Cemetery Proprietors Appeal $25,153 Verdict

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—The proprietors of Mt. Auburn cemetery have filed notice in the office of the clerk of the Suffolk superior courts that they will appeal to the full bench of the supreme court from the verdict of the superior court awarding the city of Boston a verdict of $25,153.50 for taxes and interest.

Bowdoin S. Parker, tax collector, is the plaintiff. The suit was brought to recover taxes for 1912 on the personal property of the cemetery. The tax collector had demanded taxes, but the cemetery officials had refused to pay, citing the fact that no other town or city in the state had taxed their cemeteries for personal property. After a lengthy hearing the court awarded a verdict of $25,153.50, of which $24,600 is for taxes, and $553.50 interest.

It is expected that if the supreme court upholds the verdict every cemetery in the state will find itself similarly taxed next year.

BODY RECOVERED

Undertaker Albert Finds the Body of Stathoula Pearakos

Shortly after midnight the body of Stathoula Pearakos, the young woman who committed suicide by throwing herself into the Pawtucket canal Thursday forenoon, was located by Undertaker Joseph Albert at a spot in the canal near the corner of Moody and Suffolk streets.

The water in the canal was lowered after 10 o'clock last night by the Locks & Canals Co. and at midnight the search was begun with the result that a few minutes later the body was located. The remains were removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Albert in Aiken street, where they are being preserved this morning by the medical examiner.

FOR THE CHARITY BALL BEAUTIFYING BILLERICA ASSAULT CASE

Armory Drill Hall Being Transformed Into Scene of Beauty for Affair in Aid of Lowell Guild

One going by the armory this morning would have thought that the M. V. M. was getting ready for a war with Mexico, for there was a pounding and stamping and hammering that betokened very unusual preparations for some great event. A visit to the great drill hall of the armory revealed the cause. There were no preparations for a war with Mexico, or in fact for a war with anybody, but vast preparations were being made for the charity ball which is to be run there next Wednesday evening by the Lowell armory athletic association and the Lowell guild. The great hall, which is 150 feet long was being transformed into a bower of beauty with bunting, laurel ropes, pine trees and countless strings of incandescents. To provide sufficient material for the elaborate decorations in automobiles last week, and willing hands set to work to apply it to its purpose so that the iron elders of the pointed roof and the bare walls will be festooned with over two miles of laurel rope; about one hundred trees have been donated. The drill hall will present a picture that will not be easily forgotten next Wednesday evening when the hundreds of lights are turned on and all the details of drapery, flag, and greenery will be transformed into a frame for the brilliant social gathering.

The large corps of decorators this morning several carpenters were engaged in constructing the 30 special boxes that will line both ends of the hall. These will be filled by distinguished guests and are all engaged. The first box is reserved for Governor Foss who has notified those in charge of his intention to attend with 10 of his staff. Governor-elect Walsh is also expected, and the city will be represented by Mayor James E. O'Donnell. Behind the governor's box will hang one of the famous paintings by Philip-poteaux, which are stored at the armory. The subject is the "Battle of Corbuth." Mr. Thomas Salmon, the young artist who is engaged at present in copying them, was patiently pointing this morning in the midst of a din which he said made him think of the battle, and supplied the necessary atmosphere.

Directing the work of decorating and other incidents at the armory were Mrs. Herbert D. Pickering who is in charge of the Lowell guild and in general charge of the ball. Mrs. E. J. Hyman who heads the committee of decorations; Mrs. John Jacob Rogers who with Mrs. Joseph Talbot will have charge of the dancing, and many other workers. Mrs. Pickering, in reference to the amount of work accomplished said: "It is not at all difficult to attend to such a great undertaking when one is supported with so much enthusiasm. Everybody seems interested and each member of the committee is showing a willingness to leave nothing undone to make it an unprecedent success. Of course the cost of labor will be high, but if we were compelled to pay for the ball and the material supplied, we would have an initial cost of several hundred dollars."

Mrs. Pickering explained the object of the charity ball to be the paying off of old debts contracted by the guild in its great charitable work and the providing of money for the ensuing year. The work is as broad in its scope as the city, and it is not bounded by race or creed or any other consideration. It is the aim of the guild to help the poor of the city, and it has contributed in a great measure to the splendid work of the guild by purchasing tickets for the social affair. On Wednesday is to be broad and democratic in the same sense as the work it is intended to do. The ball tickets are sold at $2.50 each or $5 the couple, and may be had from the following as well as in the down town places already advertised:

Mrs. Frank S. Bean, 26 Eleventh street; Mrs. Josiah Butler, 129 Stevens street; Mrs. J. Harry Boardman, 100 Wentworth street; Mrs. J. Gilbert Hill, 36 Wentworth street; Mrs. Miss Leslie Hady, 1908 Middlesex street; Mrs. J. J. Kerwin, 229 Fairmount street; Mrs. Harry Knapp, 324 Andover street; Mrs. E. Lamoureux, 719 Merrimack street; Mrs. Ed. Lamson, 51 Boston street; Mrs. A. B. Merrill, 182 Andover street; Mrs. Mary Bellis, 147 Hovey street; Mrs. Geo. B. Brown, 240 Gibson street; Mrs. Geo. Spalding, 12 Astor street; Miss Edith Sparks, 155 Westford street; Mrs. Chas. Stevens, 377 Willard street; Mrs. Charles L. Stover, 202 North street; Mrs. J. R. Keyes, Mechanics Savings bank, 202 Merrimack street.

The supper tickets which are $1 each, are on sale at D. L. Page company and at Mrs. William T. Hull, 57 Hoyt avenue. The newly remodeled mess hall will be used for the supper room, and the catering will be by the D. L. Page company. Music for the dancing will be by Tabor's Sixth regiment band and Hubbard's orchestra.

The general charge of the ball is vested in the president of the Lowell Guild, Mrs. Herbert D. Pickering. Her assistants in the leadership of various committees include Mrs. John Jacob Rogers, who, with Mrs. Joseph Talbot, will have charge of the dancing; Mrs. James Gilbert Hill and Mrs. Arthur B. Merrill, who are the vice presidents of the organization; Mrs. Edward B. Carney, the treasurer; Mrs. Arthur J. Murkland, assistant treasurer, and Mr. Julian B. Keyes, the latter custodian of the charity ball funds; Mrs. Gardner W. Pearson, in charge of the cards; Mrs. Mary Lamson, clerk of the corporation; Mrs. Royden H. Pillsbury, in general charge of the advertising; and Col. Butler Ames, chief of the ushering forces, who will command a number of corps on the night of the ball.

There is also a special decorating committee headed by Mrs. Edwin J. Hyman, assisted by Mr. Harry G. Pollard. In view of the fact that the local mills and the Locks & Canals company have always been very generous in their help to the guild, the following were named on the honorary board:

Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Hon. John Jacob Rogers, Rev. Appleton Grannis, Rev. Charles T. Billings, and the following mill and Locks and Canals officers: Arthur T. Lyman, president of the Locks and Canals company; Edw. Lovering, treasurer of the Massachusetts cotton mills; Herbert Lyman, treasurer of the Merrimack Mfg. Co.; A. G. Cunnock, treasurer of the Appleton Co.; E. A. Flather, treasurer of the Root mills; Arthur R. Sharp, treasurer of the Tremont and Suffolk mills and R. Paul Spelling, treasurer of the Saco-Lowell shops.

RESIDENCE OF IRMA L. OHLSON, WINNER OF FIRST PRIZE FOR FLOWER GARDENS

The annual entertainment of the Billerica Improvement association was held last night in the Billerica Town hall with a large number of residents and others interested in the improvement of the town present. The program included an illustrated lecture, speaking by members of the association, a fine exhibition by the Billerica troupe of Boy Scouts and the awarding of prizes to those who have the best kept premises, flower gardens, etc.

Prof. Waugh's Address

Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge, chairman of the association, presided, and he introduced as the first speaker Prof. Frank A. Waugh of Amherst college. Prof. Waugh's address was accompanied by stereoscopic pictures in which he showed a great many beautiful foreign views, illustrating the entrances to foreign cities and the methods employed, especially in Germany, for the betterment of interior courts, parks and open spaces. He called especial attention to the fine architecture of school houses in Germany and the neatness in which they are kept and suggested that it would be well if our people would take a similar interest in school buildings.

Following Prof. Waugh's address, there were a few local views showing the old red school house that was built in 1780 and that is still standing. Two views showing the result of a storm on the huge sign at the corner of Pollard and High streets were shown. Attention was called to the fact that the wind had blown the sign across the street and if any one had been in the vicinity they would probably have been seriously injured, if not killed.

The citizens of Billerica are much opposed to these huge signs that obstruct some of the finest views, especially when they are so placed as to form deathtraps at street corners when

Man in Police Court on Serious Charge—Non-Support Cases

The police court session this morning was a long drawn out affair, there being several prisoners in the dock, several of whom were charged with drunkenness. In the absence of Judge Enright, Judge Pickman occupied the bench.

One of the most serious cases was that of Vasilios Androustos, who was charged with assault upon Christaule John, a 12-year-old girl. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty and at the close of the testimony the court continued the case until Tuesday in order to give the defendant a chance to produce his witnesses. His bail was fixed at $500.

Michael Ford, James Cummings and James O'Brien, all former inmates of the state infirmary, in Tewksbury, were arrested on a complaint charging them with escaping and returning later for state aid. They all admitted their guilt and all were ordered to the state farm.

Hugh McKay was arrested on a warrant charging him with drunkenness and when he was booked at the station it was found there was an old complaint against him charging him with assault and battery on his wife, Mary, in 1911. He admitted being drunk, but entered a plea of not guilty to the other complaint and at his request the case was continued till Tuesday morning, his bail being fixed at $300.

Joseph G. Weaver pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was sent to the state farm. Michael Kane, Joseph Pillariewicz, John J. Horne and Michael O'Toole, all second offenders, were fined $5 and given a few weeks to pay the fine. Patrick C. Mitchell denied his guilt to a complaint charging him with drunkenness and his case was continued till Monday morning.

Edward Giroux was brought in on a complaint charging him with non-support of his wife, Angelina, to which charge he pleaded not guilty. The wife, when called to the witness stand said her husband left her last August and has done nothing to support her since.

The witness, testifying in his behalf said he was willing to work and look after the welfare of his better half. The wife when recalled by the court said she feared her husband and that she did not believe in giving him a chance, for she believes it is useless. She said this is the fourth time her husband left her, being confined there for the probation officer for three weeks. Joseph Zimski was also charged with non-support of his wife and child.

Defendant was placed on probation until Dec. 5.

Phoebe Waterhouse, wife of Fred Waterhouse, testifying against her husband, who was charged with non-support, said she was married two years ago. She said her health is very poor, that she had left the hospital two weeks ago after being confined there three weeks. She said she received no support from her husband since last August.

Several witnesses were heard for the defendant, and at the close of the testimony the court found Waterhouse guilty and ordered him to pay $3 a week to his wife, he being placed in the care of the probation officer.

BRIDE DESERTED BY LOVER

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—The wedding of Miss Anna Hanley, aged 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Hanley, 81 Charles street, Malden, and Leonard C. Barry, son of Mrs. Joseph Brown, 59 Union street, Medford, planned for last Wednesday night, did not take place. Mr. Barry failed to appear for the ceremony and did not send any explanation. Miss Hanley is said to have waited in her bridal robes and was dressed at her home with attendants for the bridegroom. When Barry did not come, John Hanley, Miss Hanley's brother, went in search of him, but could find him. At the Oliver White company, Boston, where Barry was employed seven years, it was said he gave up his place last Tuesday, telling the foreman that he was going to New York to go into business with an uncle. Miss Hanley admitted last night that she had heard from Barry since Wednesday, but declined to say what his message contained.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK

FOR HOME RULE IN CITIES

Dr. Wilcox Condemns State Regulation of Street, Railways, Telephones, Electric and Gas Plants

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—Regulation of street railways, telephones, electric and gas plants exclusively by the state was condemned in a report submitted to the 15th annual meeting of the National Municipal league today by the committee on franchises. The report, submitted by the chairman, Dr. Delos F. Wilcox of New York city, dealt with the regulation of municipal home rule to the control of public utilities.

The committee pointed out that public utilities are primarily urban in character and that, on general principles, the control of public functions should be localized as much as possible, in order to secure the interest and effective co-operation of citizens. Moreover, as a practical matter, the more powerful the corporations become and the more widespread their services, the more important it is that they should be directly answerable to the local communities which they serve.

"It may easily be possible," said the report, "that an appointive state commission will fall more or less completely under the domination of the powerful interests which control the public utilities of the state, and thus the very machinery provided for the regulation of utilities be captured by the interests presumed to be regulated by it. It may be necessary to array against the powerful financial interests of the companies the direct mass interest of the individual consumers in order to preserve the vitality of the regulatory function. Public utility corporations exist to serve the people, not to control them."

"However, in most cases, regulation cannot be either logical or effective without the active cooperation of both state and local authorities. The jurisdiction of state public service commissions should be general over all public utilities, so that there will be no 'twilight zone' within which the utilities can escape regulation altogether, but every city of enough importance to enjoy home rule in framing its charter should have the right to establish a separate bureau, department or commission for the supervision of all utilities operating within the city limits.

The city's jurisdiction should extend to matters affecting the occupation of the streets, the quality of service rendered and the character of the franchise contract entered into for the purpose of facilitating ultimate municipal ownership. The state's jurisdiction should extend to matters relating to competition, stock and bond issues, accounts and publicity. Rates and extensions should be under municipal control, subject to review by the state commission. The city should also have the right to appear by its local experts before the state commission in regard to all matters affecting local interests."

Coming to certain important questions in connection with franchise contracts between cities and public utility companies, the committee took the ground that a public utility within a given urban community is a natural monopoly and that one of the first and essential obligations of such a monopoly is to extend its services to meet all the legitimate needs of the community. Accordingly, the municipal authorities ought to have the right to initiate extensions, and the reasonableness of any particular extension should not be determined solely by the prospective profit from its operation as a separate unit, but by its effect upon the profits of the entire system.

The committee recommended the indeterminate franchise with a maximum time limit, on the principle of the recent transaction settlement franchises granted in Chicago, Cleveland and New York City. Opposition to the Wisconsin type of indeterminate permit was based on the fear that it tends to become perpetual, as it can be terminated only by purchase—and purchase means payment of the full value in cash in a lump sum at the time of purchase. This, it was said, tends to make municipalization more difficult as time goes on.

The committee favored the idea of making utilities commence to pay for themselves, even under private operation, by means of an amortization fund maintained out of earnings. This fund should be large enough at least to wipe out all franchises and other intangible elements of capital value, so that the price at which the city can buy will be kept well within the actual value of the physical property.

The committee urged the importance of a systematic campaign for the recovery of control over the perpetual and long-term franchises now outstanding. So long as the utilities in the heart of the city continue to be owned and operated under unsatisfactory, out-of-date franchises, the city, it asserted, can have no adequate control of the development of its street railways or other utilities.

The report was signed by Dr. Wilcox, as chairman, and by Robert Treat Paine, of Boston; James W. S. Peters, of Kansas City; Abraham E. Pinski, of Boston; and Charles Richardson and Clinton Rogers Woodruff, of Philadelphia. Prof. Edward W. Bemis, the Chicago public utility expert, another member of the committee, did not sign the report, but signed a memorandum in which he expressed doubt of the wisdom at the present time of giving state commissions any control over capitalization, or over rates in the larger cities, especially in states west of New York.

BRIDE DESERTED BY LOVER

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—The wedding of Miss Anna Hanley, aged 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Hanley, 81 Charles street, Malden, and Leonard C. Barry, son of Mrs. Joseph Brown, 59 Union street, Medford, planned for last Wednesday night, did not take place. Mr. Barry failed to appear for the ceremony and did not send any explanation. Miss Hanley is said to have waited in her bridal robes and was dressed at her home with attendants for the bridegroom. When Barry did not come, John Hanley, Miss Hanley's brother, went in search of him, but could find him. At the Oliver White company, Boston, where Barry was employed seven years, it was said he gave up his place last Tuesday, telling the foreman that he was going to New York to go into business with an uncle. Miss Hanley admitted last night that she had heard from Barry since Wednesday, but declined to say what his message contained.

FOR HOME RULE IN CITIES

Dr. Wilcox Condemns State Regulation of Street, Railways, Telephones, Electric and Gas Plants

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—Regulation of street railways, telephones, electric and gas plants exclusively by the state was condemned in a report submitted to the 15th annual meeting of the National Municipal league today by the committee on franchises. The report, submitted by the chairman, Dr. Delos F. Wilcox of New York city, dealt with the regulation of municipal home rule to the control of public utilities.

The committee pointed out that public utilities are primarily urban in character and that, on general principles, the control of public functions should be localized as much as possible, in order to secure the interest and effective co-operation of citizens. Moreover, as a practical matter, the more powerful the corporations become and the more widespread their services, the more important it is that they should be directly answerable to the local communities which they serve.

"It may easily be possible," said the report, "that an appointive state commission will fall more or less completely under the domination of the powerful interests which control the public utilities of the state, and thus the very machinery provided for the regulation of utilities be captured by the interests presumed to be regulated by it. It may be necessary to array against the powerful financial interests of the companies the direct mass interest of the individual consumers in order to preserve the vitality of the regulatory function. Public utility corporations exist to serve the people, not to control them."

"However, in most cases, regulation cannot be either logical or effective without the active cooperation of both state and local authorities. The jurisdiction of state public service commissions should be general over all public utilities, so that there will be no 'twilight zone' within which the utilities can escape regulation altogether, but every city of enough importance to enjoy home rule in framing its charter should have the right to establish a separate bureau, department or commission for the supervision of all utilities operating within the city limits.

The city's jurisdiction should extend to matters affecting the occupation of the streets, the quality of service rendered and the character of the franchise contract entered into for the purpose of facilitating ultimate municipal ownership. The state's jurisdiction should extend to matters relating to competition, stock and bond issues, accounts and publicity. Rates and extensions should be under municipal control, subject to review by the state commission. The city should also have the right to appear by its local experts before the state commission in regard to all matters affecting local interests."

Coming to certain important questions in connection with franchise contracts between cities and public utility companies, the committee took the ground that a public utility within a given urban community is a natural monopoly and that one of the first and essential obligations of such a monopoly is to extend its services to meet all the legitimate needs of the community. Accordingly, the municipal authorities ought to have the right to initiate extensions, and the reasonab

SHARON BOY, SUFFERING FROM SCARLET FEVER, WAS TAKEN TO BOSTON ON TRAIN

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Investigation is being made by the Boston board of health of a case of a six-year-old Sharon boy, who while suffering from malignant scarlet fever was taken in a public conveyance from Sharon to the Boston City hospital in defiance to the health laws of this state.

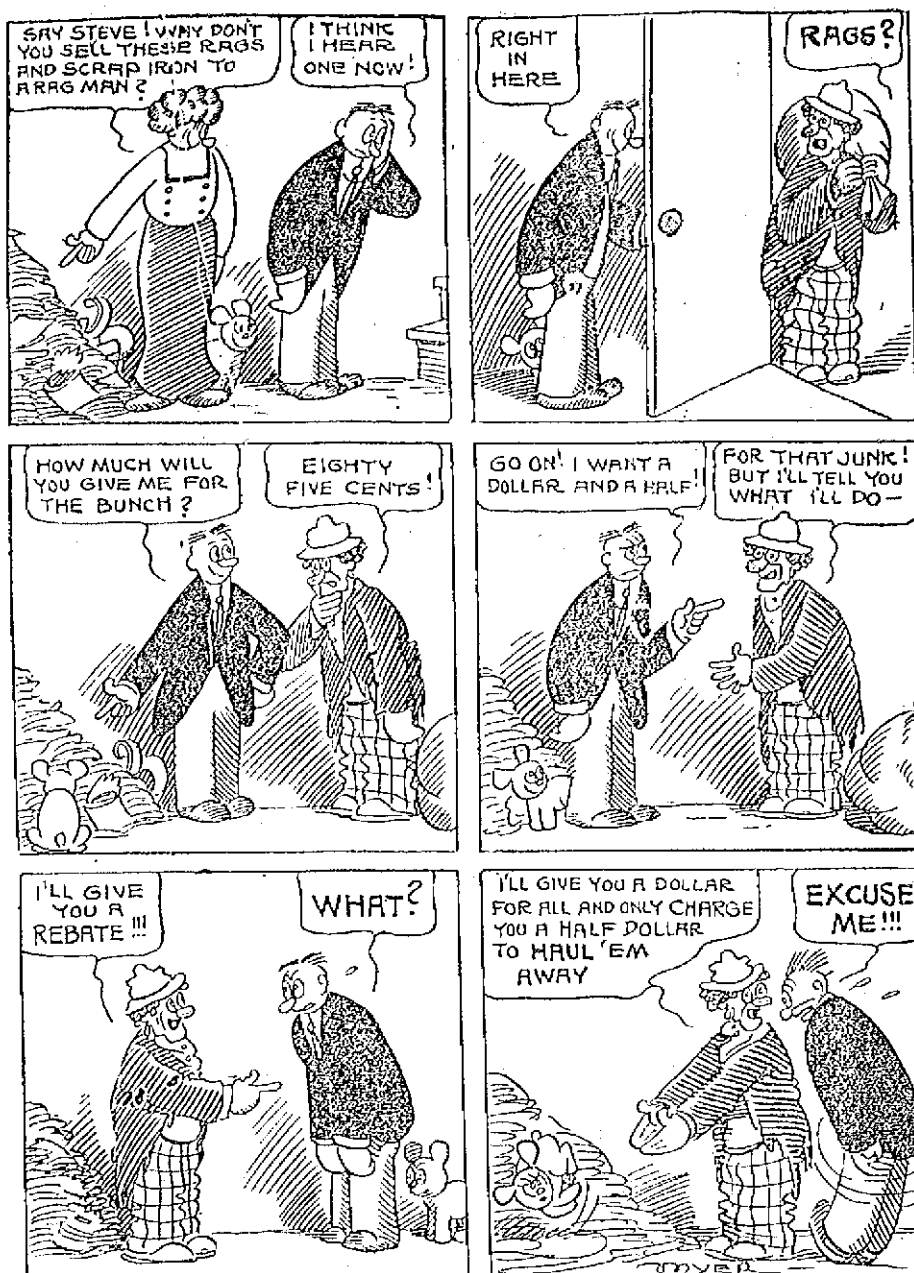

The board of health intends to proceed against Dr. Charles E. Dole, a leading physician of Sharon, and the father of the child, who is a tailor residing in that town.

The child, Morris Kaplan of 8 Quincy street, Sharon, died at the City hospital Nov. 5.

The case came to the attention of Dr. Thomas B. Shea, chief inspector of the Boston health department. He reported that he found Dr. Dole had visited the Kaplan child twice and after diagnosing the case as one of scarlet fever, advised the child's mother to take the boy to Boston on one of the regular passenger trains. The father, Dr. Shea stated, took the child to Boston on the train which left Sharon for Boston at 11 o'clock Monday, Nov. 4. On reaching Boston the child was taken in an "L" train to Northampton street and from there carried to the City hospital.

Dr. Shea stated that this was not the first case of this kind that has come to the attention of the Boston health authorities, but was, he stated, the most flagrant one. He stated that

EXCUSE ME

Boston is always ready to furnish hospital accommodations to the people of cities and towns which have no hospitals, but insists that the Boston health authorities be properly notified and that an ambulance and proper persons be provided to remove the patients. The health board members say that the Sharon train and the "L" train were well filled and that several people were probably exposed to a dangerous disease. Dr. Dole was called on the telephone by a reporter last night. He frankly admitted that he had attended the child and that he had advised its removal to this city. He said that he had instructed the child's parents to take the sick boy into the baggage coach of the train. He declared that in his opinion, the child could not be properly quarantined in his home and that a great many other children would be exposed to the disease. He said the child's father was a tailor and handling garments to be worn by many people. "I did what I believed to be the best thing for the town," said the doctor last evening.

TWOMBLEY VS. CLARK

DAMAGES OF $20,000 ASKED BY BILLERICA CITIZEN FOR ALLEGED LIBELOUS STATEMENT

The plaintiff in the case of Twombley vs. Clark occupied the stand throughout the afternoon session of superior court yesterday. At 1 o'clock court was adjourned until Monday morning. Mr. Twombley took the stand and testified that some time before the town meeting Mr. Clark sent two citizens to him, asking if he was to be a candidate for the office of highway surveyor in the year 1913. His answer was "Yes, if I am alive."

"Have you been affected by the publication of these statements?" asked Mr. Wilson.

"Yes, in several ways, particularly nervous indigestion," said Mr. Twombley.

The plaintiff stated that at the present time he is a member of the water board of the town of Billerica.

In 1904, he was highway surveyor for the town and at that time, the witness said, Mr. Clark approached him about the purchase of a snow plow that was used to clear the sidewalks at North Billerica.

"In 1905," said Mr. Twombley, "I was fixing a street in front of some of Mr. Clark's property and at that time Mr. Clark passed and asked me if I knew how to macadamize a street."

After this date I served as highway surveyor for two years.

The witness said that early in the year 1909, he talked with Mr. Clark relative to a meeting of the overseers of the Talbot mills for the purpose of defeating him, Mr. Twombley, at the coming election. He said at that time Mr. Clark and others charged him with stealing from the town of Billerica, a dump-cart and other articles. "All transactions I made during the four years' time I served as highway surveyor were investigated by the police, grand jury and others," said Mr. Twombley. "and I was found innocent of any wrong doing."

"Do you recall any more of the conversation you had with Mr. Clark at that time?"

"I told him I never stole a cent from the town of Billerica or anyone else, and he didn't believe me."

"Did you ever ask him not to publish those statements?"

"Yes."

"Did you read anything to Mr. Clark from local newspapers relative to your acquittal by the grand jury?"

"Yes, I did."

"What did you say relative to the special town meeting called to investigate your work?"

"I told him that the vote in my favor should satisfy him."

"What was the majority?"

"It was 138 to 108, I believe."

A recess was then ordered.

"On March, 1909, you and Mr. Henry J. Mahoney saw Mr. Whitney at the lumber yard of Pratt & Forrest, did you not?"

"Yes."

"What did you say?"

"I asked him if I had ever attempted to have any lumber charged to the town of Billerica and delivered to me or if he told Mr. Clark that I had done so, and he answered in the negative."

"Did you at that time know Mr. Marshall Forrest?"

"No."

"During your administration did you deal with Pratt & Forrest to some extent?"

"Yes, I did."

The witness then read from a copy of the town clerk's records the dates of several purchases.

Mr. Twombley was then cross-examined by Mr. Wier, counsel for the defendant.

"You moved to Billerica 14 years ago, you have said, Mr. Twombley."

"Yes, October, 1900."

"Between the time that you went to Billerica and the time that you were elected highway surveyor, what was your business?"

"Farming, etc."

"Were you a candidate for office before 1904?"

"I believe I ran for policeman."

"How many times did you run?"

"Once."

"You held the office of highway surveyor for three years, did you not?"

"Yes."

"You had no talk with Mr. Clark in regard to this matter in the sidewalk until 1906, did you?"

"Just before the filing of the papers in 1909."

"Was this special town meeting in 1905 called relative to your conduct while in office?"

"Yes."

"Did you hear many people talk about this lumber matter after the town meeting?"

"I did not hear it talked."

"Did that talk make you nervous?"

"No, the vote at the meeting was cast in my favor."

"Did you have any talk in 1906 with Mr. Clark?"

"Not that I remember of."

"Or in 1907 or 1908?"

"No."

"What was the first instance that called your attention to the fact that Mr. Clark was taking this matter up?"

"While I was securing names for my nomination papers in 1909. Then, I went to see Mr. Clark at his office."

Mr. Wier then produced a copy of a letter and asked the witness if he had not received the original copy from Mr. Clark. Mr. Twombley could not remember. Mr. Wier read two letters, one from Mr. Clark to Pratt & Forrest, asking for information, and the other a letter from Pratt & Forrest stating that Mr. Twombley visited the lumber yard and proposed that they, Pratt & Forrest, deliver to his house some lumber and bill same to the town of Billerica. The letter also said: "You are at liberty to use this as you see fit."

Mr. Twombley could not remember whether Mr. Clark had given him a copy of this letter or not.

The investigation by the grand jury was then reviewed by Mr. Wier, after which court adjourned.

COLD STORAGE EGG CASES

The charge brought against certain dealers for not properly placarding cold storage eggs is merely a technical one. The law is new, but the state officers are out to enforce it. Five of the dealers summoned to court pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued. They felt they had complied with the law. The charge does not imply any intention to impose on the public.

JOHN REDMOND WAS ATTACKED

Irish Leader and His
Wife Beaten by Suffragette on a Train

Woman Then Scattered
Bag of Flour Over Mr.
and Mrs. Redmond

NEWCASTLE, Eng., Nov. 15.—John Redmond, the Irish leader, and his wife were attacked by a suffragette yesterday while on board a train at Durham. The suffragette entered the compartment where Mr. and Mrs. Redmond were seated, and after declaring that the Irish leader had not done enough for the women of Ireland, struck him on the head and Mrs. Redmond on the back. She then scattered the contents of a bag of flour over Mr. and Mrs. Redmond. A train attendant forcibly ejected the woman from the train and handed her over to the police.

Mr. Redmond, in a speech delivered in the town hall here last evening, said that there was no demand, however extravagant or unreasonable, that might be put forth on behalf of the Glister unionists which the nationalists would not be ready to consider, as long as it is consistent with the principle of national self-government for Ireland. If the opponents to home rule remained obdurate and would agree to no reasonable settlement, Mr. Redmond besought the country not to slam the doors in the face of Ireland "because of fear of fanatics or the bludgeons of bullies."

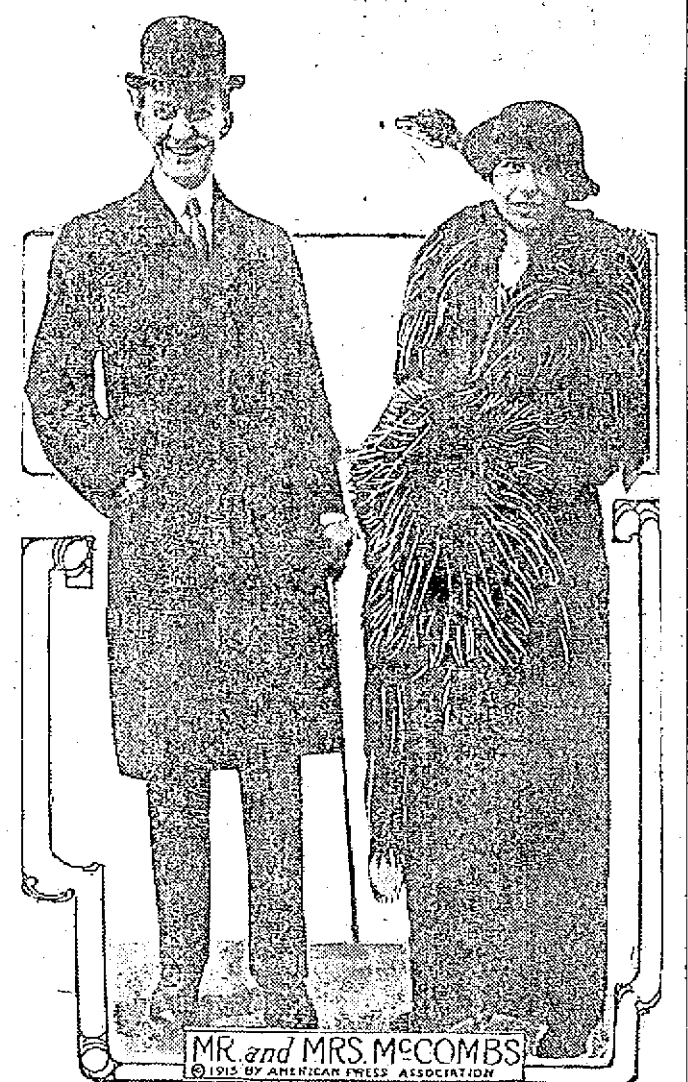

MRS. PANKHURST COMPARES
HER VISIT WITH THAT OF
JOHN REDMOND'S

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the English militant suffragettes, declared in an interview here yesterday afternoon that her visit to this country would have the same effect upon the woman suffrage cause that John Redmond's visit did for home rule in Ireland. "It will show to our women of England, and to the politicians, that American women are in sympathy with us, and are behind us and are giving money to aid us. The force of such an opinion cannot be lost upon the people of England."

MILITANTS THREW DEAD CAT AT
MEETING ADDRESSED BY
MR. BIRRELL

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Viscount Hatfield, Lord High Chancellor, speaking at Edinburgh, and Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, addressing an audience at Bristol, were subjected to suffragette disturbances last night. A dead cat thrown at Mr. Birrell, set the meeting in an uproar and when the offenders were ejected a general fight ensued.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 15.—The death list of the lakes is growing daily as reports of disasters in the recent storm come in. The dead and the missing will probably reach 300. The wrecked vessels and the number of victims on each one so far as known are as follows: The Caruthers, 23; Regina, 22; McGee, 23; Wexford, 22; Price, 23; Argue, 26; Lafayette, 12; Hydus, 23; Manchester, 26; Plymouth, 7; Leeward, 15; Lightship No. 52, 6; Netting-ham, 3. From constantly increasing reports the loss of life and property has marked the storm as the most disastrous that ever occurred on the great lakes. The picture shown herewith gives a good idea of the scenes of havoc attending the blizzard and gale.

JAPAN KEPT FAITH

Taft Wants U.S. to Respond by Avoiding Discrimination

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Asserting that the Japanese government had faithfully lived up to its treaty obligations by keeping its coolie labor from American shores, former President Taft, in an address before the National Geographical society here last night, declared that the United States government must keep faith with Japan by not discriminating against its people.

"And," he said, "no matter what the reckless and unjust acts of thoughtless people in California or elsewhere may be, they should be restrained."

Before a distinguished gathering of scientists and government officials the former president scouted the probability of war between Japan and the United States, saying it was the last thing the statesmen of Japan desired.

"The only danger of a war," he added, "is in our injustice to the people. They are fighting the battle for trade and not for conquest or for further acquisition of territory, at least to avoid other than business rivalry is to treat them as we wish to be treated."

"Critics who have spoken of the probability of an armed conflict between the two countries and of the landing of a great Japanese force on the California coast," the speaker declared, "proceed on an assumption that never in fact will be realized."

"The transportation of an army 500 miles across the trackless waste of the Pacific, with all the chances of attack upon the troop ships that would have to carry them," he said, "is an idle dream, and the Japanese would not deal in idle dreams, even if they coveted our country, as they do not."

Mr. Taft spoke of Japan as a great power and said it is in the interest of civilization of the world that America and its people keep on good terms.

"They do not insist on pushing themselves into our civilization. Their number is diminishing in this country rather than increasing, and those who are here ought to be treated without discrimination. That is all they ask."

Speaking of the Philippine problem, Mr. Taft declared that it would take at least two generations for the Filipinos to become fitted for self-government, and said that for the American government to promise within any definite time to give them independence was "very foolish."

Mr. Taft expressed the hope that the present administration would see its duty "as we have seen it who have been here," to "encourage the Filipinos to take as active a part in the government as it is safe to have them take, but to retain a controlling hand while they are in their tutelage, while they are learning political self-restraint and acquiring the character of self-government," as President Wilson calls it.

"KICK" IN LAWS

Were Recently Passed by the Connecticut General Assembly

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 15.—Some laws passed by the last general assembly and now effective have a "kick" in them that the legislators did not anticipate. The law to punish a person who carries a lighted cigar, cigarette or pipe into a closed street car has caught many smokers, most of them having unconsciously failed to extinguish their cigars. The conductor has handed the offender a printed warning, taken his name and later a police officer has served a summons. Legislators express surprise that they ever voted for such a law.

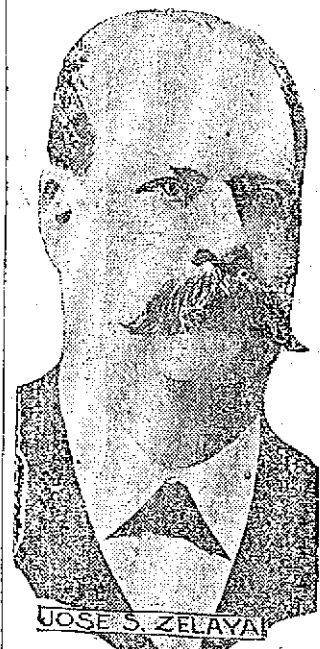

The workmen's compensation law, effective Jan. 1 next, was passed as an optional one and exempting employees of less than five persons. This exemption was to overcome grange opposition. The attorney general holds that all employing help are bound by the law but those having less than five hands may waive.

In a general notice issued by the commission today surprise is expressed that the farming interests have not awakened to the fact that every farmer is subject to the law unless he has given notice of desire for exemption. The committee adds: "It is also evident that the housewives of the state are not awake to the fact that they are similarly bound by this law."

ATTACKS TARIFF LAW

GOV. POTRIER OF RHODE ISLAND ADDRESSED SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND TEXTILE CLUB

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 15.—The recent tariff legislation has opened the way for a commercial "yellow peril" in the opinion of Governor Potrier expressed in an address before the Southern New England Textile club this afternoon. Governor Potrier said he believed that the tariff will result in the lowering of wages of labor and will deprive the American manufacturers of their home market. His speech was regarded as of the sensational order.

"I dare say there is not a manufacturer in New England, with whatever political party he may be affiliated, who will say that the radical reduction in the tariff on textiles will eventually result in a reduction of the wage schedules," said the governor. "And all of them will agree also, I think, that the new rates of duty will close our own markets for the finer grades of woolen and worsted goods to American manufacturers. Why should our manufacturers be deprived of the advantages of our own markets?"

"I believe in maintaining the wages of industrial operatives at as high a standard as possible because high wages mean greater prosperity for manufacturer and merchant and because they raise the standards of living and of civilization generally."

"There may not be a 'yellow peril' confronting us in the generally accepted sense of the term but that there may be a 'yellow peril' commercially is a thought that will deny. The races of the Orient are progressing steadily and it is only a question of time when they will enter the markets of the world with products which will come into competition with those of advanced nations. Their resources are immense and they are rapidly being educated in manufacturing lines by the Europeans. If I am correctly informed, manufacturing interests of Europe are building textile mills in China. We shall certainly have to protect our labor and the products of our labor against the extremely low

NEW MOTORCYCLE MODELS

Many Wonderful Improvements in 1914 Machines Seen at the McCann and Bachelder Stores

Great strides forward have been made by the manufacturers of motorcycles in their 1914 machines and they have now reached a point that if spoken of a few years ago, or propounded, would have been laughed at. Some truly wonderful two-wheeled vehicles are seen in the 1914 product.

The Lowell motorcycle dealers are now preparing for a very active season, as will be seen from their announcements on this page. Last year was a lively one in the business but in the number of sales, it will be surpassed this season. If the indications thus far have any weight at all.

Mr. McCann's Agency

Mr. Mark J. McCann has only recently returned from the big motorcycle show in Chicago, where he remained for a full week. Previously he held the agencies of the Excelsior and Dayton motorcycles and on his return, his first step was to make known to the public the fact that he had also taken the agency of the Thor machine, one which was formerly high priced and of excellent construction, and which came down in price with no diminishing of quality.

Mr. McCann spoke of the motorcycle show and characterized it as one of the biggest events of its kind that has taken place in this country. "It is wonderful," he said, "what is being accomplished in motorcycle construction today. There have been numerous practical and advantageous improvements in both the Dayton and the Excelsior this year, improvements that the public will appreciate." He spoke of the advantages of having a motorcycle exhibition, and said that he had met and made the acquaintance of dealers throughout the country, and had received many valuable suggestions.

Mark McCann is now ready for the busy season, and it will be a busy one for him. He has started a motorcycle club, the membership of which is limited to 50, and those who apply first will have a big advantage in the purchase of a motorcycle. He outlines his plan in an advertisement on this page.

Mr. Bachelder Active

Mr. Bachelder spoke about the motorcycle business the other day in conversation with the writer and stated that this season is going to be a big one for sales. He said, too, with confidence, that the Indian machine of which he has the agency, is going to receive its large share of patronage. The 1914 Indian is electrically started and lighted, a remarkable equipment for such a machine, and it has many other devices for comfort, convenience and safety.

Other prominent features of the new models are strengthened frames and forks with drop forged fittings throughout, longer wheel-base, more secure engine fastening, new cam design, giving increase in power, heavier motor shafts and inlet valve rocker arm mechanism, new trussed handlebar with freewheeling handle post, heavier driving members of two-speed gear, and improved change gear control, larger tires, new padded saddles, new channel steel rear stand, new luggage carrier, new metal tool box with large capacity and spring lock.

Always foremost in the rendering of prompt and efficient mechanical service to Indian owners, the Indian organization has perfected plans whereby Indian users exclusively, wherever they may be located, will enjoy overnight service the coming season. Seven American branches and 2500 dealers will enable the Indian mounted motorcycleist in 1914 to command 24-hour service, the quickest and most complete ever offered the legions of motorcyclemen.

For further particulars, see George H. Bachelder, Postoffice square.

In 1913 there were 77,000 motor vehicles of all kinds registered in Pennsylvania, of which 17,000 were four-wheeled cars, says T. C. Boyd, registrar of motor vehicles of that state. Which we think is going some, both for Pennsylvania, and for the Ford Motor company.

But then we suppose somebody has to drive a heavy, clumsy car to make us fully appreciate the light Ford.

ELECTRIC AUTO SHOW IN BOSTON
An unusual and magnificent motor car show event is scheduled to take place at the Copley Plaza in Boston on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in the form of an electric automobile salon. This event has been planned and arranged with a great deal of care and with a view to making it the greatest and most attractive affair of its kind thus far attempted. It is most interesting from the fact that it is unusual. Quite a number of Lowell people, as well as Lowell dealers will go to Boston to attend the salon on the first three days of next week.

News of Interest From Dealers—Beginning of 1914 Campaign—Big Sales Predicted

This week, as the reader will doubtless notice, The Sun has put more than the usual time and labor into its Saturday automobile feature, and with results that speak for themselves. The importance of the page as a medium between the dealer and the public has been emphasized and proven, and the automobile men are, no doubt, fully alive to the advantages afforded them. The campaign preceding the big spring business should be well under way.

This season promises to be an unusually large one for the automobile salesmen in Lowell, both because of their own activities in advertising and demonstrating, and because of the added excellence of the cars themselves. The manufacturers have made their product even more attractive and more convenient than ever before by the addition of new devices for safety and ease of control, and in general outward appearance, the 1914 cars are real masterpieces of motor car construction.

The Omnipresent Ford

Mr. S. L. Rochette, proprietor of the Lowell Motor Mart is keeping the Ford cars before the people in a manner that is bound to bring a record season. His efforts combined with the general approval of previous customers who have derived entire satisfaction from their purchases are accomplishing big results. Mr. Rochette is truly one of the most active of the local dealers. He predicts bigger sales than ever this season.

Boston Auto Supply Company

Mr. McGarry of the Boston Auto Supply company, in Bridge street, is an extremely busy man at present, for he has a great deal of repair work coming in constantly. His success in vulcanizing and general repairing is reaping its reward. Mr. McGarry, who has a really attractive establishment, is speaking in particular of the readiness with which he is selling now. These are fitted into the interior of a worn shoe, and extend the wear of the tire a great deal longer than would otherwise be the case. They are pleasing many who do not at this time care to purchase brand new tires for the remainder of the season.

Burning Out Cylinders

Mr. Chandler of the Sawyer Carriage company in Worthen street today explained to the writer, the method of burning out cylinders, and the benefits.

BURN OUT YOUR AUTOMOBILE CYLINDERS BY THE NEW OXYGEN METHOD AND STOP THAT KNOCKING AND OVERHEATING.

SOME MOTOR DON'TS

Undoubtedly, the hero to the throne of success is the man who owns and uses a good automobile, said Thomas E. Fay, president of the Society of Automobile Engineers. The oxygenated effort to the long stroke, and it is installed in the system of the fellow who drives from his home to his office and back every week day in the year; from his car to the medicine chest on the road; from the tattering turmoil of trade to the quiet of the countryside; from the fever-infected workings of barter to the nerve-soothing, wooded glades; from the haunts of the cunning, cunning corporation to the place a league away, where nature is now bedecked in autumn-colored verdure.

The automobile—let it be one make or another. The least-to-be-admired product of all is well worth the having. —The best is heaven on earth.

At this time of the year, when the more than half of the car owners are fretting about the possibility of mischief that Jack Frost may be up to, when some owners, like nature's small fry, would undergo a monotonous hibernation, placing their automobiles on dead storage, it but remains for the wise ones to have a care.

Don't depend upon water in the radiator—use half and half, water and glycerine, or like proportions of de-natured alcohol.

Don't purchase inferior "motor sprays" (gasoline) the heavier products are non-volatile in cold weather. Don't use viscous lubricating oil—get a standard brand of winter-body automobile lubricating medium, in sealed cans.

Don't run on partly deflated tires—they will crack in the cold. Don't let dirt accumulate at the joints at any point—it will form a hard crust and cut like a knife-edge.

Don't neglect the springs—they make a noise, crying for graphite grease between the plates.

Don't fold the top down while it is wet—the fabric will freeze and crack. Don't let mud fresh from the road keep an appointment with depreciation on the "finish" of the body—it will cloy with the color.

Don't keep up a high speed on frozen and rough roads—battered tires will be the product.

Don't leave the lap robes at home—they long to snuggle up to you in the cold.

Don't risk roadside repairs—cold weather work of this character is hither and bad.

Don't forget the filter—Marvinized lubrication puts the "sweet" in the running qualities in the power plant.

We can't say it too often, the Ford is a better car sold at a lower price.

The Ford Motor Car company built during the past twelve months something like 200,000 cars. We think it means something.

Harking back to "Old Time Ringers" who under stress offered to sweep the kingdom for a horse, we wonder how much to boot he would have given for a Ford?

"The way to have a friend is to be one," wrote Emerson—which explains why the Ford has more friends than any other car.

Poor Eben Brummett, he never knew the luxury of a Ford town car.

SPEEDWAY IN SIOUX CITY

A speedway program of the old-fashioned sort will be offered at Sioux City next July 4, with $25,000 hung up in cash for four days' racing. The town has an excellent two-mile dirt track, oiled and fully fenced at an expense of about $20,000, the net proceeds of four years' racing, and feel they would like to break into the speed limelight good and proper. What their oval is capable of, the performance this fall of Rickard, who turned a complete circuit at an average of 82.3 miles an hour, amply demonstrates. The best of cards will be sought, the assistance of the Indianapolis sweepway being solicited in this respect. It is planned to induce a number of the foreigners who will come over for the 500-mile race, to enter the Sioux City sweepstakes also. The Hoosier track has offered every assistance, short of loaning its personnel, perhaps. As manager of the contests, it is said, E. A. Morris, who formerly led the destinies of the Indianapolis oval, may be secured.

Speaking of economy, you should hear a Ford man enthuse about his tire mileage.

The wise man buys a Ford and puts the "difference" in the bank.

CONSPIRACY CASE TO LIGHT SQUARE

Former Salesman of Street Railway Company Will Allow the Lights on Trolley Poles

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Announcement was made at the office of District Attorney Telford that Fred F. Nagel, formerly a salesman employed by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., would be the prosecution's principal witness at the trial of Herbert J. Wardner, an architect of this city, and William G. and Frank South, local representatives of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., who are charged with conspiracy to defraud the city of New Bedford in connection with the construction of a new high school building. Nagel, according to the district attorney's office, received a check for $200 drawn on the company which was to have been turned over to Wardner, but the salesman is said to have kept the check until he appeared before the grand jury when he delivered it to the prosecutor, who will use it as evidence.

It is alleged that Wardner was to receive from the company $200, part of the difference between the actual and the contract price of glass to be used in the new building.

HON. E. M. TUCKER HOME

HAD PLEASANT TRIP TO EUROPE
WHERE HIS SON IS A STUDENT—
RETURN VOYAGE ROUGH

Hon. E. M. Tucker of this city returned from a trip abroad, yesterday, on the Manitou from Belgium. Mr. Tucker left Lowell with his family about 10 weeks ago. His son, Parker Tucker, is at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland, and Mr. Tucker's family will remain there for some time. They plan to arrive home about the first of the new year. Mr. Tucker and his family sailed on the White Star line to Liverpool. From there they went to London, Paris, Holland, Belgium and Switzerland. Speaking of his trip, today, Mr. Tucker said he has been across eight times, but never experienced as rough weather as on this occasion. He said it was extremely rough entering the Atlantic from the English channel and for two days the big steamer made only 46 miles a day. He was one of five Americans aboard. Most of the passengers were Belgians, weavers, coming here to work in the mills. Some of them were bound for Lawrence, others for Maine, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

The Manitou docked in Boston at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and Mr. Tucker was home at 10 o'clock. He alludes that was making pretty good time.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Mr. Tucker at the Commercial street last evening when a large number of his friends gathered and presented him a handsome and valuable watch. Mr. O'Brien responded to the presentation address with an appropriate speech of acceptance and gratitude. There was a pleasing musical program consisting of solos by Mrs. Shugrue, choruses by a quartet composed of Messrs. Hart, Maloney, Ryan and Lyons, and a cornet and violin duet by Messrs. Reardon and Borden. The party broke up after a most enjoyable evening.

NO COMPARISON
The light, airy, sanitary offices of the new Sun building compared with those of any other office building in Lowell are so much more up to date that not only the occupants but their patrons are delighted with them.

JAMES J. Gallagher

CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

Explains Two of Mr. Barrett's Inconsistencies and Unwise Management

No. 1.—Mr. Barrett in his speeches says that the fire department was the only one which asked for a less appropriation in 1913 than they received in 1912. Mr. Gallagher says yes that is half true, as the fire department received $5,000.00 less in 1913 than in 1912, but Mr. Barrett does not say that even with this cut, the appropriations to department were $23,000 more, in the two years, than was allowed Chief Hooper in any previous two years, thereby forcing the other departments to borrow money to pay their running expenses.

Why does he not apply the same principles in the water department and instead of borrowing $75,000 and paying $33,000 interest on same, use the revenues and not borrow unnecessarily?

In the fire department he gets extra appropriation and buys Autos, while in the water department, where, from finance reports, it would appear that there was sufficient revenues outside loan-account, he goes out and borrows money.

No. 2.—Mr. Barrett at a meeting last night contending against Mr. Gallagher's argument "that log was not necessary," said: "What would we do if the 30 in. main crossing the river at Alder street should break in the river bed?" Mr. Gallagher's answer is: "Turn on the valve in the 24 in. RESERVE MAIN THAT IS LOCATED ABOUT 15 FEET DOWN THE RIVER bed from the 30 in. main; the purpose it is there for." And if perchance anything happens both, you have the High Service 12 in. main that crosses the river at the same place about 5 feet away from the 24 in. RESERVE MAIN, and the 12 in. supply pipe that crosses the Central bridge.

WHO WAS HONEST IN HIS ARGUMENT, MR. BARRETT OR MR. GALLAGHER?

WHITE HOUSE OF CARRANZA
This aduna is of brick and stands out distinguished as the "white house" of General Carranza, the provisional president. Likewise it is his capitol his war and diplomatic headquarters and his judicial tribunal.

As "constitutional president" of Mexico he hears in one of its tiny rooms the propositions of Washington through Special Envoy William Bayard Hale. As lawyer and judge, as he was in his home state of Coahuila before he became governor in the days of Madero, he administers justice. In another room as first chief of the constitutional forces he dictates orders to adjutant general, and as commander of his field commands, a short distance from this house lies the town's assembly hall. Last night there was a ball celebrating the victory of Obregon and his 4000 men at Cuicacatlan.

William Bayard Hale was a spectator there, a few minutes as a guest of General Carranza, the provisional president. Likewise it is his capitol his war and diplomatic headquarters and his judicial tribunal.

As "constitutional president" of Mexico he hears in one of its tiny rooms the propositions of Washington through Special Envoy William Bayard Hale. As lawyer and judge, as he was in his home state of Coahuila before he became governor in the days of Madero, he administers justice. In another room as first chief of the constitutional forces he dictates orders to adjutant general, and as commander of his field commands, a short distance from this house lies the town's assembly hall. Last night there was a ball celebrating the victory of Obregon and his 4000 men at Cuicacatlan.

William Bayard Hale was a spectator there, a few minutes as a guest of General Carranza, the provisional president. Likewise it is his capitol his war and diplomatic headquarters and his judicial tribunal.

Some modification of Mr. Lind's statement to General Huerta. He is said to have been in communication with General Obregon, but not in mid night. It is not improbable that there will be an eleventh hour alteration of the government's plan with reference to the meeting of congress today since it is not expected that Washington will return from the stand announced by Mr. Lind, so the effect that congress shall not meet.

CAPTURE OF CULIACAN MAY RESULT IN NEW COMMONWEALTH IN MEXICO

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, Nov. 15.—In the eyes of all Mexicans on this side of the line the capture yesterday of Culiacan, capital of Sinaloa, welded a new commonwealth within Mexico, a confederacy which will rapidly expand if the constitutionalist armies can fight their way southward and eastward toward Mexico City and the Guatemala.

Those Mexicans holding contrary beliefs are on the other side of the line, out of dangerous proximity to the popular opinion.

Culiacan was the last capital of the northern and Pacific coast states of Mexico to fall to the rebel army. The constitutionalists now control a wedge of Mexico, including the country's three largest states, Sonora, Sinaloa and Durango with the territory of Tepic. The capital of all, for the time being at least, is the little "dobe" village across the street from the United States consulate, Mazatlan, or custom house, for the national government headquarters.

Concrete base, will be the paving used and the distance to be paved is about 925 feet. The estimated cost of the work is $10,000.

The city engineer is preparing an estimate for the paving of Thorndike street from Middlesex street to Appleton street. The hill was macadamized about three years ago but the traffic is so great there that the macadam could not stand the pressure. The paving to be laid next year will be granite blocks with joints ironed, the same as the Gorham street hill. Granite blocks with joints ironed are said to constitute the best paving for hill as much as it affords a good foothold for horses.

Placing Stone Bounds
A gang of men from the street department is at work today placing stone bounds in various streets throughout the city that were accepted within the last two years. The department has finished the paving work in Chelmsford street and the Third street job will be completed today. The City State Street Railway company is putting down the rails on the westerly side of Gorham street. The entire street is to be paved with granite blocks. The paving will not be until it sets more firmly. One side of Lawrence street has been completed and the other side will be tackled next week.

RODRIGUE MIGNAULT MORE FACTS ON LOWELL FINANCES

Candidate for

MAYOR

Every city in Massachusetts is compelled by law to erect and maintain a Hospital for Contagious Diseases.

Lowell has not yet complied with the law; is liable to a fine for such evasion.

Our city fathers have considered for two years the preliminary question of choosing a site for such an institution.

After two years of "the best there is in them," they have recently asked the State Board of Health to come to town and choose for them.

"Home rule, thou art a blessing."

If a whole municipal council votes itself incapable of choosing even a site for a hospital ordered by law, how will it muster enough energy to provide a Public Hall, demanded by a large plurality of the voters years ago?

Will they again invite state aid?

And then again, for Public Baths?

And AGAIN, AGAIN, for other public improvements, such as a Public Market, etc.?

Why not a permanent state commission, without salary, to solve local problems for our salaried officials?

What becomes of the motto: "Lowell the City of Opportunities?"

RODRIGUE MIGNAULT,
811 Merrimack St.

As a candidate for your MAYORALTY NOMINATION, as a fellow citizen, born and bred in Lowell—I want to talk to you about our finances and city conditions.

First of all, good and clean streets, well conducted schools and a well managed police force, are the rights of all citizens.

They are not properly subjects for pledges, and when made by candidates, are ridiculous and preposterous—and I am not offering anything in that direction.

But I do want to say that unless the people of Lowell begin to take a stand against the present run of wild cat financing at city hall, it is only a question when, besides having to borrow for the school house coal, we will have to go further.

DO YOU KNOW

That we are borrowing $520,000 this year as against $181,000 in 1910?

That our net debt October 1, 1913, was $2,845,794.65, a half million more than in 1910?

That our annual interest charges on city debts are running close to $150,000 a year?

Is this prosperity?—Is this good management, when we are borrowing on bond issues to pay old bills?

What would you think of a business corporation with such a showing? This is not hysteria. These are not sidewalk discussions. THESE ARE FACTS.

These figures represent the price we all have had to pay for banking, newspaper and liquor interest government, isn't it time for a change?

As a business man, who knows that prosperity for a man, corporation or a city does not mean spending more money than you earn, renewing notes instead of paying them when due, I ask your support.

DR. McCARTY FOR MAYOR

TO THE VOTERS

Gentlemen:— I appeal to all the voters. It is no concern to me what your belief may be, what your position in life may be, whether humble or exalted. I claim that I am well within my rights when I come out, fair and square, and ask the help and votes of all kinds.

I am broad and liberal enough. I am trained, experienced and educated. I am absolutely free from all kinds of combines, gangs, money power and all other control. It is not necessary for me to try and "Graft." I can devote my whole time to the position. In short I can, and will, be mayor of the whole city.

The government of Lowell, involving the management of $1,000,000 a year, requires something more than a boy's control, no matter how clever or promising that boy may be. Look over the candidates for commissioners, nineteen of them, and it must be very evident to you that you must select with care, and that the man you elect as Mayor must be able to fill the position with firmness and fairness to all and still be a gentleman.

Now consider the candidates for Mayor, compare them one with the other, study their honesty, ability, experience, courage and freedom from all entanglements of any kind, and I feel that you will agree with me that I am justified in claiming that measure up to the required standard for the position.

I have a strong faith that right makes might, and in that faith I will to the end dare to do my duty, as Mayor, as I honestly understand that duty. I again ask you voters when you cast your vote next Tuesday to be sure and give me your help. Ask your relatives and friends to vote for me. I have from the beginning sought the help of the voters and from the response that I have got from all over the city I feel sure that I am a winner.

MARTIN F. CONLEY

CANDIDATE FOR

Alderman

To the Citizens of Lowell:—

Permit me to respectfully ask for your support at the primaries next Tuesday. In presenting my candidacy, I submit for your consideration the following:

Am qualified by EXPERIENCE and TRAINING in public life to discharge the duties of the office in an acceptable manner.

I recognize the needs of the city, in providing clean, economical and efficient administration of public affairs, and pledge myself to an earnest endeavor to satisfy in this respect.

Government, after all, is a question of men. The best GUARANTEE of my fitness for the office I seek is my past public service, admitted by all to have been clean and honorable, and marked with ability and a right conception of public duty.

The holding of public office carries with it honor and responsibility. Honor to the community and the public official by a proper discharge of responsibilities. I am not seeking the office at street corners by abuse and vilification of my opponents, as my sole qualification to hold public office. I want your support, but by clean and wholesome methods only.

A Boston paper has the following to say of my legislative service:—"Loyalty to home industry was almost a passion with Martin F. Conley, a bright and vigorous young democrat from Lowell. From the first day of the session until its close he worked like a beaver to secure the passage of every act which would benefit his own city, while no other member was more diligent than he in fighting measures which threatened the welfare of his city, its citizens or its industries."

As a member of the legislature, I served on important committees, such as Public Charitable Institutions, Public Health, Public Lighting, Election Laws and Drainage, and as a member of the Public Health Committee, was able to effectively prevent the pollution of the Merrimack river.

As an alderman, I will serve the public interests with fidelity and credit to the City of Lowell and myself.

I RESPECTFULLY URGE YOUR SUPPORT OF MY CANDIDACY AT THE PRIMARIES.

Judge Hadley Regrets Mr. Murphy's Retirement

"I regretted very much when I read of the retirement of Dennis J. Murphy from the chairmanship of the board of health. I have a very high estimation of the services which he has rendered the city in his chairmanship on this board, for I have had many chances to appreciate it from the manner in which he has presented his cases here in court. He has always worked up his prosecutions for violation of the rules of the board of health, and of the city and state laws in a most painstaking and efficient manner. He has given freely of his time and ability to the city in his position as chairman of this board. And he is a man who has never spared himself in the least in his endeavors to prevent infringements on the welfare of the city in violations of the rules for the preservation of the public health. It is hard for any one not entirely conversant with all his work in this department to estimate what the real worth of his services to the city has been. But I do know that he has worked hard and faithfully and long in the service of the city and has given the services of an exceptionally bright and efficient young man, for whom I have the highest regard."

DEMAND FOR SEWERS SHOWS CITY'S GROWTH

Many New Sewers Laid This Year—Estimates for Paving in 1914—Low Death Rate

Lowell's growth for the last year has been quite a healthy one and the very best evidence of it is found in the city engineer's office in the form of petitions for new sewers. More sewer work has been done and the demand for sewers, mostly new sewers, has been greater than for a great many years, a fact that speaks well for the building up of different sections of the city. Sewers have been laid in 31 streets in widely different parts of the city and new sewers, as a rule, mean new homes.

The street department has laid 2519 linear feet of sewer this year and there are yet 2800 feet to be laid as per plans outlined at the beginning of the year. The longest stretch of relaid pipe was in Gorham street. The distance there was 925 feet.

Estimate For Paving

Commissioner Donnelly is preparing estimates for street paving in 1914 and the estimate for Elm street, from Gorham street to Central street, has already been prepared. Old blocks, on

LOST HIS PURSE

Albert Guimond, driver for Wilfrid Jean, laundryman, reported to the police this afternoon the loss of his purse containing between $20 and $25, the same he believes having been taken from the counter in the fruit store of Mrs. Ellen Gelinas, 665 Merrimack street.

Mr. Guimond told the police he went into the store and made change for Mrs. Gelinas. A few minutes later he crossed the street and when again he tried to make change he found his purse was missing. He quickly returned to the store but to his astonishment the purse which he thought he left on the counter was missing. There was some one in the store when Mr. Guimond forgot his purse, but neither he nor Mrs. Gelinas is able to give a description of the party.

HARVARD IN GREAT FORM

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 15.—Fair, cool weather, with yesterday's light rain well dried out of the field, gave ideal conditions for today's game between Harvard and Brown. Harvard, anxious to better Yale's score over the Providence eleven, prepared to send into the game all the regular varsity men, which it will line up against Yale next week, with the exception of Logan, quarterback, and Trumbull, center, who went to New Haven to watch the Yale-Princeton contest. Freely went in for Logan and Soucy for Trumbull. All the men were in good shape. Last year Harvard defeated Brown 39 to 10. The Crimson was hopeful of preventing Brown from scoring today.

Much of Brown's hope of escaping a shutout lay in the kicking of Captain Henry. In practice this week he has done some excellent punting and drop-kicking and it was expected that Brown would open up her game in an effort to give him all the opportunity possible. The whole eleven has shown improvement since last Saturday's 15 to 0 defeat by Yale and the players were in good condition. McKee was sent in at right end in place of McLaughlin, whose showing in the Yale game was not satisfactory to the coaches. In previous games McKee has proved himself a hard tackler and a fast runner.

Harvard Scores in First Period

A fumble on Harvard's 25-yard line gave Brown an opportunity for a field goal shortly after the start of the game. Capt. Henry booted the ball standing on Harvard's 35-yard line, but the attempt failed when the pigskin fell short. Harvard's first score was the result of Mahan's sensational end running. The Crimson carried the ball by straight rushes from their 32-yard line, Brickley going over for the touchdown. Hardwick kicked the goal. A 25-yard penalty suffered by Harvard in this period nullified a 25-yard run by Mahan and stopped further Crimson progress. Brown's forward pass attempts went awry. Score end of first period: Harvard 7, Brown 0.

Brickley Again Shines

Brickley started the second period by another Crimson score, placing the ball over the goal by placement from the 28 yard line. After an exchange of punts Harvard started another advance but was held for downs on Brown's 42 yard line. Harvard got the ball on a fumble by Andrews, recovered by Storer. Brickley tried another field goal from the 45 yard which failed by an inch. A forward pass, Mahan to Hardwick, which went 20 yards and was followed by a 10 yard run, gave Harvard a second touchdown. Again Hardwick kicked the goal. Hardwick was within two yards of the Brown goal when time was called.

Score: Harvard 17, Brown 0.

Third Period

The Crimson added to its total when following the fumble of a punt by Gardner of Brown on his 25-yard line, Gilman recovered the ball and crossed the line for a touchdown. Hardwick kicked the goal. Much of the action in this period was in punting, both teams kicking freely. Harvard started a march to the Brown goal from their 35-yard line which, although slowed up by several unsuccessful forward passes, progressed by Willett's punting. The Crimson had the ball on Brown's 32-yard line when the period ended. Harvard was using a team almost entirely composed of substitutes in this period. Score: Harvard 24, Brown 0.

A short series of rushes interrupted by a penalty of five yards for holding put the ball across Brown's goal line for another Crimson touchdown. Hardwick failed to kick the goal. A moment later Mills caught a Brown kick on Harvard's 18 yard line and ran 52 yards for a Harvard touchdown. Willett kicked the goal. The game ended with the ball on Brown's 20 yard line, in the Brunonians' possession. Final score: Harvard 37, Brown 0.

CARLISLE TRIMS GREEN TEAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The transformed Polo grounds made its debut in football today. The game there between Dartmouth and Carlisle was the first important contest seen for several years. The choice seats today were in the center of the field, opposite what a month ago were first and third bases. Followed the game were clear and with ideal football weather, clear and cold. Dartmouth was a favorite in the betting.

An innovation was the numbering of the players. In response to requests of spectators and newspapermen, the Dartmouth management consented to let their players wear numbers on their backs. Other colleges, however, refused to adopt this plan on the ground it would help opponents to diagnose their plays. The Carlisle players were not numbered.

Carlisle First to Count

Carlisle kicked off to Dartmouth's 33 yard line and the Green mountain boys tried a forward pass. It went out of bounds and the Indians then took the ball on their 50 yard line and began the series of line plunges that brought after their first touchdown ten minutes after the game began. Their progress toward Dartmouth's goal was interrupted by a fumble that was mangled by the Indians for two short gains through the line. Then Curtis' punt was blocked and the Indians regained the ball on Dartmouth's 30 yard line. A series of plays on tackle by Guyon, Calack and Bracklin ended when Guyon was pushed over the line for a first score. Carlow kicked goal. Dartmouth on a field goal by Captain Hogsett from the 25 yard line. The ball was Dartmouth's on the Indians' two yard line when the period ended.

Score: Dartmouth 3, Carlisle 7.

Second Period

Dartmouth started fiercely. A successful forward pass was the climax of a dazzling series of end runs. London received the ball from Greig and made Dartmouth's first touchdown. Hogsett kicked an easy goal. After this the Indians opened their bag of tricks and made several gains of ten yards by variations of the old double pass. Apology of 15 yards set them back and the ball went to Dartmouth on downs. Murdoch's punt was returned by Carlisle. Ghee tried his fifth forward pass, which failed. On the next play he ran 40 yards on a fake kick formation to Carlisle's 25 yard line. Hogsett narrowly missed a try at field goal. The period ended with the ball in Carlisle's hands on her 20 yard line.

Score: Dartmouth 10, Carlisle 7.

Third Period

Ghee ran the Indians' kickoff back to the 20 yard line. The Redskins intercepted Ghee's forward pass and savage line bucks took the ball to the four yard line where Calack made the next touchdown. Carlisle kicked the goal. Llewellyn took Ghee's place at quarterback and the ball went to the Indians made their third touchdown by the same kind of centre piercing plays, Calack again taking the ball over the line and Carlisle kicking the goal. The period ended with the ball in Dartmouth's possession on her opponents' 30 yard line.

Score: Dartmouth 10, Carlisle 21.

Fourth Period

Guyon made Carlisle's fourth touchdown after the Indians had carried the ball from the center of the field without once losing possession. The Dartmouth coach went in several fresh players but was unable to stop the Indians from tearing the Green line to tatters. Bracklin was shoved through the exhausted Dartmouth center for an other touchdown. Carlow kicked his fifth goal. Llewellyn tried a forward pass in vain. An Indian caught the ball. The game ended with the ball in Carlisle's possession on her 45 yard line. Final score: Carlisle 35, Dartmouth 10.

YALE SURPRISES TIGER ELEVEN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 15.—The annual football clash between Princeton and Yale brought into the realm of the mythical bulldog today 35,000 followers of the most popular of college sports. The weather conditions were ideal. Yesterday's light rain, which threatened another greasy gridiron, was followed today by clear, cold skies while the field was pronounced to be in fine shape.

Some 5000 or more of the spectator army reached New Haven last night but the main body of pigskin followers including practically the entire Princeton undergraduate list streamed into the city during the forenoon. At least a third made the journey by motorcar and for several hours today New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania cars raved in number those from Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Princeton Favorite

Princeton cited a slight favorite during the forenoon but the earlier odds of 10 to 7 were hammered to 7 to 4 by liberal offers of blue coin based on the feeling that Yale had "come back."

It was the first time in years that both Yale and Princeton faced each other with the Tigers a pronounced favorite.

Yet despite the almost disastrous preliminary season it seemed to be the opinion of experts that the game on Yale field this afternoon would uncover some of the finest exhibitions of strategic football seen on the gridiron in many years. It was felt that both eleven would be compelled to use the maximum amount of generalship, strength and knowledge of the fundamentals of the game in order to win. For Princeton the game was the final one of the season and with everything to win and very little to lose it was expected that the entire gamut of Tiger plays would be disclosed.

Crimson Scouts on Hand

For Yale, however, with the Harvard contest a week hence, there was the realization that the stands and the side line held a score of the keenest of Crimson scouts eager to diagnose the strength and weakness of the Elis' game. The game today spelled ruin for the great wooden area which for more than a quarter of a century has been the scene of so many victories and so few Yale defeats. Off to the northward the arriving crowd saw the rising walls of the new Yale bowl. The big structure is said to be ready for the Harvard game next year and to hold the greatest crowd that has ever attended a sporting event in this country.

The two teams spent the night somewhat removed from the hurly burly of New Haven hotels and clubs. The Yale players went out to the infirmary for a quiet night, while the Princeton team remained in Greenwich, coming over on one of the morning trains and having lunch in their car. Reports from the two camps indicated that every man was in the usual fit condition.

Beautiful Decorations

As usual New Haven arrayed itself for the game with shop windows liberally decked in blue and in orange and black, while here and there life-like models and buildings faced each other over miniature footballs. The backmen did a thriving business in the lunch counters were jammed from early forenoon until almost game time. Many of the spectators' parties, however, lunched either in their seats on the stands or in their autos about the grounds while the big field between the old stands and the new bowl was

TERRIFIC FIGHTING AT JUAREZ TODAY

City Captured by Rebels Who Control Half of Mexico—American Embassy to be Withdrawn

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 15.—Ciudad Juarez, the most important northern port of entry in Mexico, was captured by constitutionalists under General Pancho Villa and General Maclovio Herrera early today with small loss on either side. The occupation of Juarez by rebels began at 2.30 o'clock after the men under Villa and Herrera had reached the town in trains thought to be carrying federal soldiers to the garrison. The rebels detained undisciplined, placed their artillery and soon had everything in readiness to fight. At the first volley the astonished government troops were assembled and returned the fire, engaging in a battle which lasted for two hours. Bullets fell thick in El Paso and all the residents here were awakened by the crash of heavy artillery firing. Americans were kept from the danger zone by the detachment of United States 15th cavalry on patrol duty under Major R. E. Ritchie and so far as known no Americans were wounded. The formal surrender of the city to the constitutionalists was at 5 o'clock when the federal commander threw himself and his soldiers on the mercy of the victorious rebels. At once bands began playing on the streets and the town rang with "Vivas" for the conquerors.

Clever Work Done by Rebels

It was by one of the cleverest strategies in the history of Mexican warfare that Juarez was taken. General Villa, with Gen. Herrera were reported to be attacking the town of Chihuahua. Federalists rushed to the reinforcement of the Chihuahua garrison but Villa never really pushed his attack there. Trains were made ready to convey his army into Juarez just night while all federal officers in northern Mexico believed him to be exerting every energy to take Chihuahua.

Leaving a small force of men there, he took 7000 of his troops on board the train which reached Juarez at the blue a federal troop train expected. Not once was he challenged.

Under cover of darkness the rebels surrounded the town save the river front, that next to the American border, and a concerted attack was made, with the artillery doing much of the work. The federalists were so completely demoralized by the attack that they offered no serious resistance.

Three Americans Killed

Colonel Cano, spokesman for the rebels, told the Associated Press today that he had no idea of the number killed and wounded in the engagement but did not believe the loss was heavy.

a vast picnic ground for a couple of hours before the first ringing cheer.

Special trains, 17 in number, brought in the main body of the spectators at noon nearly all from the direction of New York, although trains from the north and east were heavily patronized by Harvard men anxious for a line on the blue team.

Sing "He Ramble"

The Princeton undergraduate body marched into the city confident of success and with several new songs of the usual stirring variety. Many New Haveners recalled the departure of the Orange and Black host ten years ago when John Dwyer's right foot enabled the Tigers to win and the undergraduates to sing the memorable "He Ramble" song of victory.

The march to the field began on Chapel street, with the noon whistles. The early arrivals in the stands found the field in magnificent condition. The morning sun had done its best in drying the turf so that the bare spots were almost dusty.

Strong Wind Blew

A northerly wind which sprang up during the morning was blowing straight down the field at an eight knot gale just before the whistle sounded, giving an advantage to the kickers at that end of the field. This was counterbalanced, however, by the fact that the sun shone on the backs of the defenders of the North goal.

The stands filled fairly rapidly and half an hour before the game appeared the musicians on the Yale side of the field gave a stirring concert. The undergraduates on both sides reserved their lung powers until just before the game started.

Much of the time before the game was spent by many of the veteran players fighting over former football battles and there was a small army of men who have made Yale and Princeton football history on the two sidelines.

Players Don Uniforms

The two teams arrived in the locker buildings shortly after ten o'clock and donned their football togas leisurely.

Yale Rooters Cheer

Yale obtained considerable encouragement before the game began when it was announced that the soccer team had defeated Princeton during the forenoon by a score of 3 to 1. There was a cheer from the blue stands from the followers of the gentler game. There was another unusual incident before the game when two white jerseyed Yale cheer leaders crossed over to the Princeton side of the field. There they shook hands with the Tigers' shout leaders just as the captains of the field were shaking hands in the center of the field.

The first burst of cheers of the afternoon came when the Princeton team, headed by Capt. Baker, raced on the field. The Yale team, with Captain Ketchum, was not far behind and the Yale stands rocked under the thunder of the shouts from the backers of the Blue.

The exchange of cheering occupied several minutes. Yale cheered Captain Baker of Princeton and the Princeton stands replied by cheering Captain Ketchum. Then each side cheered the players of the team individually. Just before two o'clock Rufere Langford called the captains to the center of the field and the coin was tossed for choice of sides.

Princeton won the toss and chose to defend the north goal, giving Yale the south goal and the kickoff.

Start of Game

Pendleton kicked off to Princeton's 20 yard line and the ball was run back five yards. Law kicked out of bounds on Yale's 29 yard line. Knowles kicked Princeton's right end for 15 yards.

Knowles kicked to Baker on Princeton's 20 yard line, the ball was run back six yards. Law kicked to Wilson on Yale's 35 yard line. The ball was run back four yards. Law's face was covered with blood from a cut over the eye. It was Yale's ball on her 39 yard line. On a quick shift in line formation Knowles made four yards outside of tackle. Knowles kicked to Law on Princeton's 25 yard line without gain. Law immediately kicked outside of Yale's 23 yard line. Again Yale elected to rush but Knowles was thrown back a yard when he tried Princeton's right end. Knowles kicked out of bounds on Yale's 45 yard line. It was the Tigers' ball in Yale's territory. Streit plunged through for three yards. Law kicked to Wilson on Yale's 10 yard line. The ball was run back five yards. On a fake kick Wilson made six yards through center. Knowles kicked to Baker on Princeton's 44 yard line. There was no run-back. The pass for a kick to Law was a poor one but Law recovered it with a loss of five yards. It was Princeton's ball on her 35 yard line.

Wing Shift Play

Baker was thrown back a yard by Warren on a wing shift play, the first of the game. Law kicked to Wilson on Yale's 25 yard line. The ball was run back five yards. Yale started rushing and Ainsworth circled Princeton's left end for eight yards. Knowles kicked to Baker, who was thrown on Princeton's 30 yard line. Law kicked on the first down to Wilson on Yale's 32 yard line. The ball was run back three yards. Ainsworth made three yards outside of tackle. Knowles punted to Streit on Princeton's 30 yard line. The ball was brought back.

FOR THE CHARITY BALL BEAUTIFYING BILLERICA ASSAULT CASE

Armory Drill Hall Being Transformed Into Scene of Beauty for Affair in Aid of Lowell Guild

One going by the armory this morning would have thought that the M. V. M. was getting ready for a war with Mexico, for there was a pounding and stamping and hammering that betokened very unusual preparations for some great event. A visit to the great drill hall of the armory revealed the cause. There were no preparations for a war with Mexico, or in fact for a war with anybody, but vast preparations were being made for the charity ball which is to be run there next Wednesday evening by the Lowell armory athletic association and the Lowell guild. The great hall, which is 150 feet long was being transformed into a bower of beauty with bunting, laurel ropes, pine trees and countless strings of incandescents. To provide sufficient material for the elaborate decorations 16 automobiles scoured the hills of New Hampshire last week, and willing hands set to work to apply it to its purpose so that the iron gliders of the pointed roof and the bare walls of the hall were festooned with over two miles of laurel rope, about one hundred trees have been donated. The drill shed will present a picture that will not be easily forgotten next Wednesday evening when the hundreds of lights are turned on and all the display of drapery, flag, and greenery will be transformed into a frame for the brilliant social gathering.

Besides the large corps of decorators this morning several carpenters were engaged in constructing the 30 special boxes that will line both ends of the hall. These will be filled by distinguished guests and are all engaged. The first box is reserved for Governor Foss who has notified those in charge of his intention to attend with 10 of his staff. Governor-elect Walsh is also expected, and the city will be represented by Mayor James E. O'Donnell. Behind the governor's box will hang one of the famous paintings by Philip-Potter, which are stored at the armory. The subject is the "Battle of Cynthiana." Mr. Thomas Salmon, the young artist who is engaged at present in copying them, was patiently painting this morning in the midst of a din which, he said, made him think of the battle, and supplied the necessary atmosphere.

Incidents of work of decorating and other accidents at the armory were Mrs. Herbert D. Pickering who is president of the Lowell guild and in general charge of the ball; Mrs. E. J. Hyman who heads the committee on decorations; Mrs. John Jacob Rogers who with Mrs. Joseph Talbot, in charge of the dancing, and many other willing workers. Mrs. Pickering, in referring to the amount of work accomplished said: "It is not at all difficult to attend to such a great undertaking when one is supported with so much enthusiasm. Everybody seems interested and each member of the committee is showing a willingness to leave nothing undone to make it an unprecedented success. All of the decorations have been donated. Of course the cost of labor will be high, but it is well worth the money. The guild will be the material supplied, we would have an initial cost of several hundred dollars."

Mrs. Pickering explained the object of the charity ball to be the paying off of old debts contracted by the guild in its great work, and the providing of money for the coming year. The work is as broad in its scope as the city, and it is not bounded by race or creed or any other consideration. It has introduced new standards among the poor of Lowell and it has contributed in a great measure towards relieving the death rate. The public is therefore urged to help along the splendid work of the guild by purchasing tickets for the social affair of Wednesday is to be broad and democratic in the same sense as the work it is intended to aid. The ball tickets are sold at $2.50 each or $5 the couple, and may be had from the following as well as in the down town places already mentioned:

Mr. Frank S. Bean, 26 Elmwood street; Mrs. Josiah Butler, 130 Stevens street; Mrs. J. Harry Boardman, Andover street; Mrs. J. Gilbert Hill, 34 Westworth avenue; Miss Bessie Hadley, 1908 Middlesex street; Mrs. J. J. Kerwin, 233 Fairmount street; Mrs. Harry Knapp, 324 Andover street; Mrs. J. E. Lamoureux, 710 Merrimack street; Mrs. Ed. Lamson, 61 Beacon street; Mrs. A. B. Merrill, 152 Andover street; Miss Mary Reilly, 137 Hovey street; Mrs. Geo. Runels, 240 Gibson street; Mrs. Geo. Spalding, 13 Astor street; Miss Edith Sparks, 456 Westford street; Mrs. Chas. Stevens, 377 Willard street; Mrs. Charles L. Stover, 269 Nesmith street; Mr. J. B. Koyes, Mechanics Savings bank, 205 Merrimack street.

The supper tickets which are $1 each are on sale at D. L. Page company and by Mrs. William T. Trull, 97 Hoyt avenue. The newly remodeled mess hall will be used for the supper room, and the catering will be by the D. L. Page company. Music for the dancing will be by Tabor's Sixth regiment band and Hubbard's orchestra.

The general charge of the ball is vested in the president of the Lowell Guild, Mrs. Herbert D. Pickering. Her assistants in the leadership of various committees include Mrs. John Jacob Rogers, who, with Mrs. Joseph Talbot, will have charge of the dancing; Mrs. James Gilbert Hill and Mrs. Arthur B. Merrill, who are the vice presidents of the organization; Mrs. Edward B. Carney, the treasurer; Mrs. Arthur J. Murkland, assistant treasurer, and Mr. Julian B. Koyes, the later custodian of the charity ball fund; Mrs. Gardner W. Pearson, in charge of the cards; Miss Mary Lamson, clerk of the corporation; Mrs. Boyden H. Pillsbury, in general charge of the advertising; and Col. Butler Ames, chief of the unheralded forces, who will command a numerous corps on the night of the ball.

There is also a special decorating committee headed by Mrs. Edwin J. Hyman, assisted by Mr. Harry G. Polard. In view of the fact that the local mills and the Locks & Canals company have always been very generous in their help to the guild, the following were named on the honorary board: Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Hon. John Jacob Rogers, Rev. Appleton Grannis, Rev. Charles T. Billings, and the following mill and Locks and Canals officials: Arthur T. Lyman, president of the Locks and Canals company; Edward Lovering, treasurer of the Massachusetts cotton mills; Herbert Lyman, treasurer of the Merrimack Mfg. Co.; A. G. Cunnock, treasurer of the Appleton Co.; F. A. Flather, treasurer of the Boot mills; Arthur R. Sharp, treasurer of the Tremont and Suffolk mills; and R. Paul Snelling, treasurer of the Saco-Lowell shops.

RESIDENCE OF IRMA L. OHLSON, WINNER OF FIRST PRIZE FOR FLOWER GARDENS

The Village Improvement Association Awards Prizes for Flower Gardens and Premises

The annual entertainment of the Billerica Improvement association was held last night in the Billerica Town hall with a large number of residents and others interested in the improvement of the town present. The program included an illustrated lecture, speaking by members of the association, a fine exhibition by the Billerica troupe of Boy Scouts and the awarding of prizes to those who have the best kept premises, flower gardens, etc.

Prof. Waugh's Address
Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge, chairman of the association, presided, and he introduced as the first speaker Prof. Frank A. Waugh of Amherst college. Prof. Waugh's address was accompanied by stereoscopic views in which he showed a great many beautiful foreign views, illustrating the entrances to foreign cities and the methods employed, especially in Germany, for the betterment of interior courts, parks and open spaces. He called especial attention to the fine architecture of school houses in Germany and the neatness in which they are kept and suggested that it would be well if our people would take a similar interest in school buildings.

Following Prof. Waugh's address, there were a few local views showing the old red school house that was built in 1789 and that is still standing. Two views showing the result of a wind storm on the huge sign at the corner of Pollard and High streets were shown. Attention was called to the fact that the wind had blown the sign across the street and if any one had been in the vicinity they would probably have been seriously injured, if not killed.

The citizens of Billerica are much opposed to these huge signs that obstruct some of the finest views, especially when they are so placed as to form deathtraps at street corners when third, 50 cents. It was announced that those wishing to compete could secure particulars by applying to Miss Beatrice Swinington before Dec. 15.

Warren H. Manning

Mr. Warren H. Manning, an officer of the association, spoke at some length on village improvement and his talk was very interesting.

The motion pictures which the improvement association intended, could not for technical reasons be exhibited, so the boy scouts were called upon to entertain. Their first number was an exhibition of first aid work in which Melvin Morris took the part of a person apparently in the last stages of life, and A. Morley and Allison Dole worked over him, going through the various necessary movements to stimulate breath and start circulation. This was followed by an exhibition of a fireman's lift in which Raymond Morley ascended a ladder and catching Melvin Morris with a fireman's grip so held him that he was able to carry young Morris down the ladder, using only one hand. The boys also showed that they knew what to do in case of a broken bone by neatly bandaging a supposed broken arm with splinters as if to hold it until a doctor arrived. Much interest was shown in this work.

The newly elected officers of the association are: President, Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge; secretary, Herbert Jacobs; treasurer, T. Frank Lyons; ways and means committee, Ralph Dodge, Ivory M. Hanson, Mrs. F. G. Faulkner, Mrs. Herbert Hosmer, J. F. Talbot and Dr. Charles E. Hosmer; road and roadsides committee, Mrs. Clarence A. Becker, T. F. Sheridan, N. B. Jones, Mrs. S. A. Ball and Henry O'Brien; grounds and recreation committee, W. H. Manning, J. Nelson Parker, H. A. King, M. H. Kohlrausch and Warren Stearns; home Views were also shown of children working at Fordway park at North Billerica and of the First Parish Sunday school flower garden. Other pictures showing views of best kept premises, vines, etc., that took prizes in the contest this year were thrown on the screen.

An offer has been made by the Billerica Girls' club of six prizes for the best stories about birds. The club will offer three prizes, viz: $1, 50 cents and a picture of a bird to children under 12 years of age, the stories not to contain less than 200 or more than 1000 words and to be about actual experience with birds. Man in Police Court on Serious Charge—Non-Support Cases

The police court session this morning was a long drawn out affair, there being several prisoners in the dock, several of whom were charged with drunkenness. In the absence of Judge Enright, Judge Pickman occupied the bench.

One of the most serious cases was that of Vasillos Androustos, who was charged with assault upon Christanthi John, a 12-year-old girl. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty and at the close of the testimony the court continued the case until Tuesday in order to give the defendant a chance to produce his witnesses. His bail was fixed at $500.

Michael Ford, James Cummings and James O'Brien, all former inmates of the state infirmary, in Tewksbury, were arrested on a complaint charging them with escaping and returning later for state aid. They all admitted their guilt and all were ordered to the state farm.

Hugh McKay was arrested on a warrant charging him with drunkenness and when he was booked at the station it was found there was an old complaint against him charging him with assault and battery on his wife, Mary, in 1911. He admitted being drunk, but entered a plea of not guilty to the other complaint and at his request the case was continued till Tuesday morning, his bail being fixed at $300.

Joseph G. Weaver pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was sent to the state farm. Michael Kane, Joseph Pillarovic, John J. Horne and Michael O'Toole, all second offenders, were fined $5 and given a few weeks to pay the fine. Patrick C. Mitchell denied his guilt to a complaint charging him with drunkenness and his case was continued till Monday morning.

Joseph G. Weaver was brought in on a complaint charging him with non-support of his wife, Angelina, to which charge he pleaded not guilty. The wife, when called to the witness stand said her husband left her last August and has done nothing to support her since.

The witness, testifying in his behalf said he was willing to work and look after the welfare of his better half. The wife when recalled by the court said she feared her husband and that she did not believe in giving him a chance, for she believes it is useless. She said this is the fourth time her husband left her. The court found him guilty and placed him in the care of the probation officer for three months. Joseph Zinskus was also charged with non-support of his wife and child.

Defendant was placed on probation until Dec. 6. Phoebe Waterhouse, wife of Fred Waterhouse, testifying against her husband, who was charged with non-support, said she was married two years ago. She said her health is very poor, that she had left the hospital three weeks ago after being confined there three weeks. She said she received no support from her husband since last August.

Several witnesses were heard for the defendant, and at the close of the testimony the court found Waterhouse guilty and ordered him to pay $13 a week to his wife, he being placed in the care of the probation officer.

FOR HOME RULE IN CITIES

Dr. Wilcox Condemns State Regulation of Street Railways, Telephones, Electric and Gas Plants

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—Regulation of street railways, telephones, electric and gas plants exclusively by the state was condemned in a report submitted to the 15th annual meeting of the National Municipal league today by the committee on franchises. The report, submitted by the chairman, Dr. DeLois F. Wilcox of New York city, dealt with the relation of municipal home rule to the control of public utilities.

The committee pointed out that public utilities are primarily a local character and that, on general principles, the control of public functions should be localized as much as possible, in order to secure the interest and effective cooperation of citizens. Moreover, as a practical matter, the more powerful the corporations become and the more widespread their services, the more important it is that they should be directly answerable to the local communities which they serve.

"It may easily be possible, said the report, that an appointive state commission will fall more or less completely under the domination of the powerful interests which control the public utilities of the state, and thus the very machinery provided for the regulation of utilities be captured by the interests presumed to be regulated by it. It may be necessary to array against the powerful financial interests of the companies the direct mass interest of the local consumers in order to preserve the vitality of the regulatory function. Public utility corporations exist to serve the people, not to control them.

However, in most cases, regulation cannot be either logical or effective without the active cooperation of both state and local authorities. The jurisdiction of state public service commissions should be general over all public utilities, so that there will be no twilight zone in which the utilities can escape regulation altogether, and every city of enough importance to enjoy home rule in framing its charter should have the right to establish a separate bureau, department or commission for the supervision of all utilities operating within the city limits.

The city's jurisdiction should extend to matters affecting the occupation of the streets, the quality of service rendered and the character of the franchise contract entered into for the purpose of facilitating ultimate municipal ownership. The state's jurisdiction should extend to matters relating to competition, stock and bond issues, accounts and publicity. Rates and extensions should be under municipal control, subject to review by the state commission. The city should also have the right to appear by its local experts before the state commission in regard to all matters affecting local interests."

Coming to certain important questions in connection with franchise contracts between cities and public utility companies, the committee took the ground that a public utility within a given urban community is a natural monopoly and that one of the first and essential obligations of such a municipality is to extend its services to meet all the legitimate needs of the community. Accordingly, the municipal authorities ought to have the right to initiate extensions, and the reasonableness of any particular extension should not be determined solely by the prospective profit from its operation as a separate unit, but by its effect upon the profits of the entire system.

The committee recommended the introduction of franchise with a maximum time limit, on the principle of the recent transaction settlement franchises granted in Chicago, Cleveland and New York City. Opposition to the Wisconsin type of indeterminate permit was based on the fear that it tends to become perpetual, as it can be terminated only by purchase—and purchase means payment of the full value in cash in a lump sum at the time of purchase. This, was said, tends to make municipalization more difficult as time goes on.

The committees favored the idea of making utilities commence to pay for themselves, even under private operation, by means of an amortization fund maintained out of earnings. This fund should be large enough at least to wipe out all franchise and other intangible elements of capital value, so that the price at which the city can buy will be kept well within the actual value of the physical property.

The committees urged the importance of a systematic campaign for the recovery of control over the perpetual and long-term franchises now out of date. So long as the utilities in the heart of the city continue to be owned and operated under unsatisfactory, out-of-date franchises, the city, it asserted, can have no adequate control of the development of its street railways or other utilities.

The report was signed by Dr. Wilcox, as chairman, by Robert Treat Paine, of Boston, James W. S. Peters, of Kansas City, Abraham E. Finckel, of Boston, and Charles Richardson and Clinton Rogers Woodruff, of Philadelphia. Prof. Edward W. Bemis, a Chicago public utility expert, another member of the committee, did not sign the report, but signed a memorandum in which he expressed doubt of the wisdom at the present time of giving state commissions any control over capitalization, or over rates in the larger cities, especially in states west of New York.

BRIDE DESERTED BY LOVER

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—The wedding of Miss Anna Hanley, aged 22, daughter of Charles and Mrs. Michael J. Hanley, 51 Charle street, Malden, and Leonard C. Barry, son of Mrs. Joseph Brown, 39 Union street, Medford, planned for last Wednesday night, did not take place. Mr. Barry failed to appear for the ceremony and did not send any explanation. Miss Hanley is said to have dressed in her bridal robes and was waiting at her home with attendants for the bridegroom. When Barry did not come, John Hanley, Miss Hanley's brother, went in search of him, but could not find him. At the Oliver White company, Boston, where Barry was employed seven years, it was said he gave up his place last Tuesday, telling the foreman that he was going to New York to go into business with an uncle. Miss Hanley denied last night that she had heard from Barry since Wednesday, but declined to say what his message contained.

JOHN REDMOND WAS ATTACKED

Irish Leader and His
Wife Beaten by Suffragette on a Train

Woman Then Scattered
Bag of Flour Over Mr.
and Mrs. Redmond

NEWCASTLE, Eng., Nov. 15.—John Redmond, the Irish leader, and his wife were attacked by a suffragette yesterday while on board a train at Durham. The suffragette entered the compartment where Mr. and Mrs. Redmond were seated, and, after declaring that the Irish leader had not done enough for the women of Ireland, struck him on the head and Mrs. Redmond on the back. She then scattered the contents of a bag of flour over Mr. and Mrs. Redmond. A train attendant forcibly ejected the woman from the train and handed her over to the police.

Mr. Redmond, in a speech delivered in the town hall here last evening, said that there was no demand, however extravagant or unreasonable, that might be put forth on behalf of the Ulster unionists which the nationalists would not be ready to consider, as long as it is consistent with the principle of national self-government for Ireland. If the opponents to home rule remained obdurate and would agree to no reasonable settlement, Mr. Redmond besought the country not to slam the doors in the face of Ireland "because of fear of fanatics or the bludgeons of bullets."

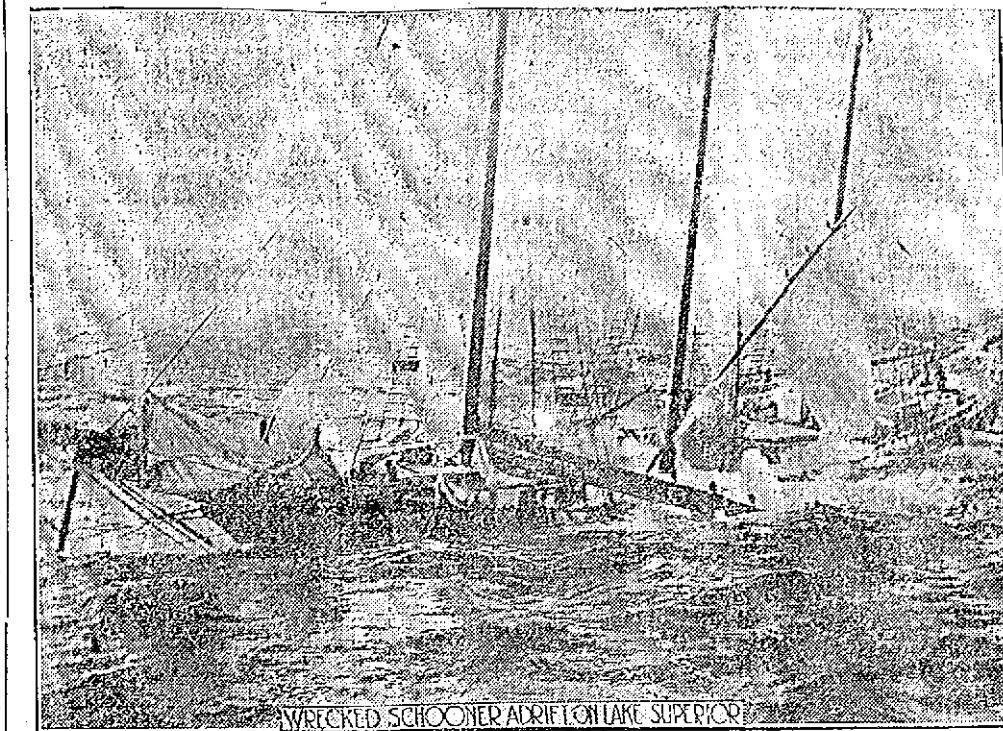

MRS. PANKHURST COMPARES
JOHN REDMOND'S

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the English militant suffragettes, declared in an interview here yesterday afternoon that her visit to this country would have the same effect upon the woman suffrage cause that John Redmond's visit did for home rule in Ireland.
"It will show to our women of England, and to the politicians, that American women are in sympathy with us, and are behind us and are giving money to aid us. The force of such an opinion cannot be lost upon the people of England."

MR. BIRRELL

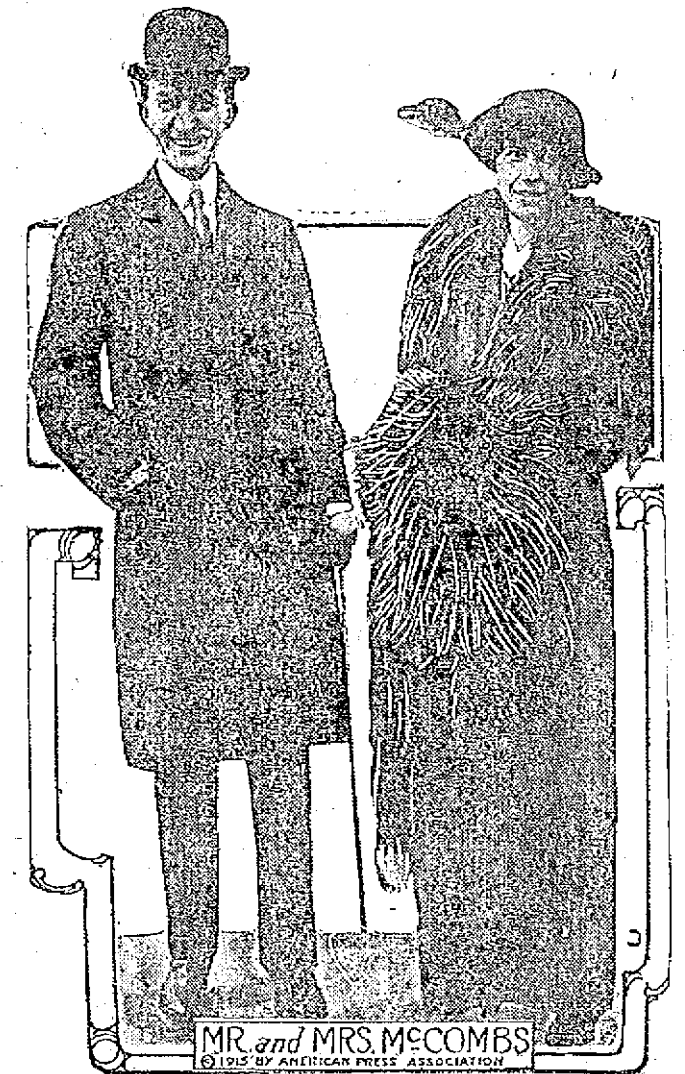

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Viscount Haldane, Lord High Chancellor, speaking at Edinburgh, and Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, addressing an audience at Bristol, were subjected to suffragette disturbances last night. A dead cat thrown at Mr. Birrell, set the meeting in an uproar and when the offenders were ejected a general fight ensued.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 15.—The death list of the lakes is growing daily as reports of disasters in the recent storm come in. The dead and the missing will probably reach 300. The wrecked vessels and the number of victims on each one so far as known are as follows: The Caruthers, 28; Regina, 22; McGee, 28; Wexford, 22; Price, 28; Argus, 28; Lafayette, 12; Hydus, 28; Manchester, 28; Plymouth, 7; Leaf, 15; Lightship No. 82, 6; Nottingham, 3. From constantly increasing reports the loss of life and property has marked the storm as the most disastrous that ever occurred on the great lakes. The picture shown herewith gives a good idea of the scenes of havoc attending the blizzard and gale.

JAPAN KEPT FAITH

Taft Wants U.S. to Respond by Avoiding Discrimination

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Asserting that the Japanese government had faithfully lived up to its treaty obligations by keeping its coolie labor from American shores, former President Taft, in an address before the National Geographical society here last night, declared that the United States government must keep faith with Japan by not discriminating against its people.

"And," he said, "no matter what the reckless and unjust acts of thoughtless people in California or elsewhere may be, they should be restrained."
Before a distinguished gathering of scientists and government officials the former president scouted the probability of war between Japan and the United States, saying it was the last thing the statesmen of Japan desired.
"The only danger of a war," he added, "is in our injustice to the people. They are fighting the battle for trade and not for conquest or for further acquisition of territory, at least to avoid other than business rivalry is to treat them as we wish to be treated."
"Critics who have spoken of the probability of an armed conflict between the two countries and of the landing of a great Japanese force on the California coast," the speaker declared, "proceed on an assumption that never in fact will be realized."
"The transportation of an army 5000 miles across the trackless waste of the Pacific, with all the chances of attack upon the troop ships that would have to carry them," he said, "is an idle dream, and the Japanese would not deal in idle dreams, even if they coveted our country, as they do not."

Mr. Taft spoke of Japan as a great power and said it is in the interest of civilization of the world that America and its people keep on good terms.
"They do not insist on pushing themselves into our civilization. Their number is diminishing in this country rather than increasing, and those who are here ought to be treated without discrimination. That is all they ask." Speaking of the Philippine problem, Mr. Taft declared that it would take at least two generations for the Philippines to become fitted for self-government, and said that for the American

Were Recently Passed by the Connecticut General Assembly

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 15.—Some laws passed by the last general assembly and now effective have a "kick" in them that the legislators did not anticipate. The law to punish a person who carries a lighted cigar, cigarette or pipe into a closed street car has caught many smokers, most of them having unconsciously failed to extinguish their cigars. The conductor has handed the offender a printed warning, taken his name and later a police officer has served a summons. Legislators express surprise that they ever voted for such a law.

The workmen's compensation law, effective Jan. 1 next, was passed on an optional one and exempting employees of less than five persons. This exemption was to overcome grange opposition. The attorney general holds that all employees are bound by the law but those having less than five hands may waive.

In a general notice issued by the commission today surprise is expressed that the farming interests have not awakened to the fact that every farmer is subject to the law unless he has given notice of desire for exemption. The committee adds: "It is also evident that the housewives of the state are not awake to the fact that they are similarly bound by this law."

While president Zelaya ordered the execution of Leonard Grace and Leroy Cannon, two American citizens suspected of being connected with a movement to overthrow his administration. He is under surveillance by the immigration authorities.

ATTACKS TARIFF LAW
GOV. POTTER OF RHODE ISLAND
ADDRESSED SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND TEXTILE CLUB

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 15.—The recent tariff legislation has opened the way for a commercial "yellow peril" in the opinion of Governor Potter expressed in an address before the Southern New England Textile club this afternoon. Governor Potter said he believed that the tariff will result in the lowering of wages of labor and will deprive the American manufacturers of their home market. His speech was regarded as of the sensational order.

"I dare say there is not a manufacturer in New England, with whatever political party he may be affiliated, who will say that the radical reduction in the tariff on textiles will eventually result in a reduction of the wage schedules," said the governor.

"And all of them will agree also, I think, that the new rates of duty will close our own markets for the finer grades of woolen and worsted goods to American manufacturers. Why should our manufacturers be deprived of the advantages of our own markets?"

"I believe in maintaining the wages of industrial operatives at as high a standard as possible because high wages mean greater prosperity for manufacturer and merchant and because they raise the standards of living and of civilization generally."

"There may not be a 'yellow peril' confronting us in the generally accepted sense of the term but that there may be a 'yellow peril' commercially no thoughtful man will deny. The races of the Orient are progressing steadily and it is only a question of time when they will enter the markets of the world with products which will come into competition with those of advanced nations. Their resources are immense and they are rapidly being educated in manufacturing lines by the Europeans. If I am correctly informed, manufacturing interests of Europe are building textile mills in China. We shall certainly have to protect our labor and the products of our labor against the extremely low wages of the Orient if these nations enter the industrial field.

"If it is considered proper to open our American markets to the Europeans by means of a low tariff containing no reciprocal clause, how can we close them to the Asiatics?" Gov. Potter it may be stated is a standpat republican on tariff matters.

It is significant that all press discussions on banking reform agree on a point—its necessity. Some may differ with the administration as to the best means to achieve it, but few differ wholly. As in the case of the chairman, made in the bill up to the press, the principle of government control is generally approved though the desirable degree of government control is a matter of differing opinion. The main question now in the senate chamber which has it under consideration is the words of the Citizens' League

It is undoubtedly exasperating to have continuous rain for a month or so, but which of us would change the present weather for the brand that are getting out in Cleveland? The frosts of sleet and rain and wind and snow have been loosed and the industrial and social life of the city has been crippled. It is all very well to read of the advantages of the warm and middle west, but despite our winter cold and our summer heat we have an undoubted advantage in the moderation of climate. We may lose our crops occasionally at some weather vagaries or get our feet wet, but we may thank our stars that we don't have to buy cyclone cellars or protect ourselves very often against the terrible forces of the blizzard. After reading of the ravages of nature in Ohio we can flatter two or three very good persons who live in the south that we should be satisfied with Massachusetts.

There might be various other instances quoted to show the efficiency of the police department and the shallowness of the charges that are now being hurled against it. It is a well known fact that no two men, not even lawyers, agree in regard to the method of enforcing the Sunday liquor law. Lowell has had ample experience in this respect and the hotel keepers were haled into court until the cases were thrown out and the license commission later, I would give the "Outs" an opportunity to show why the men in office should be retired and a new board of directors should be selected to get things in order. Then it would be necessary to give the "Ins" an opportunity to answer in rebuttal. If the city wanted a vaudeville attraction that would eclipse anything Mr. Keith ever presented, the "Ins" and the "Outs" could furnish it. I brought upon the same platform a candidate for city trustee, asked him to tell the other with the force of oratory and invective at the command. In addition to the hall arrangement I would have an ordinance adopted providing that nobody would be allowed to jump up wherever he pleased on the streets of our city to harangue the crowd, to spit the sidewalk and indulge in the vilest obscenity and vilification against candidates and others. I would have it so that before a man can get out to talk on the street corners he must secure a license and then if he abuses the privilege the license could be revoked. We have the same mudslinging by irresponsible speakers and many a virtuous citizen stopped in the interests of public order and common decency.

"The Police Inspector's Surprise." A comedy drama, will be played by John T. Doyle and company. It is very different from anything offering, and is a comedy of the most original and a few real thrills are thrown in for good measure. Supporting Mr. Doyle is a fine cast consisting of Miss Lillian May Willard, Kenney Ryan and Ralph D. Lee.

Raymond and Elaine have a comedy sketch, Miss Elaine is a dainty singer and dancer, and she is the star of a lot of real ginger of number. Mr. Elaine. It is needless to state is one of the best comedians in the city. Raymond and Ryan present a comedy called "Smart Art Smartly Dressed." It is one of clean fun and good music. The two comedians are very clever and have been sold to be most entertaining and Harry Thriller lives up to his name in his thrilling on chaos and chaos and chaos. Many Wonderful Improvements in 1914 Machines Seen at the McCann and Bachelder Stores

Great strides forward have been made by the manufacturers of motorcycles in their 1914 machines, and they have now reached a point that if spoken of a few years ago, or prophesied, would have been laughed at. Some truly wonderful two wheeled vehicles are seen in the 1914 product.

The Lowell motorcycle dealers are now preparing for a very active season, as will be seen from their announcements on this page. Last year was a lively one in the business but in the number of sales, it will be surpassed this season. If the indications thus far have any weight at all.

Mr. McCann's Agency

Mr. Mark J. McCann has only recently returned from the big motorcycle show in Chicago, where he remained for a full week. Previously he held the agencies of the Excelsior and Dayton motorcycles and on his return, his first step was to make known to the public the fact that he had also taken the agency of the Thor machine, one which was formerly high priced and of excellent construction, and which came down in price with no diminishing of quality.

Mr. McCann spoke of the motorcycle as being the most popular of all the greatest events of its kind that has taken place in this country. "It is wonderful," he said, "what is being accomplished in motorcycle construction today. There have been numerous practical and advantageous improvements in both the Dayton and the Excelsior this year. Improvements that the public will appreciate." He spoke of the advantages of having a motorcycle exhibition, and said that he had met and made the acquaintance of dealers throughout the country, and had received many valuable suggestions.

Mark McCann is now ready for the

busy season, and it will be a busy one for him. He has started a motorcycle club, the membership of which is limited to 50, and those who apply first will have a big advantage in the purchase of a motorcycle. He outlines his plan in an advertisement on this page.

Mr. Bachelder Active

Mr. Bachelder spoke about the motorcycle business the other day in conversation with the writer and stated that this season is going to be a big one for sales. He said, too, with confidence, that the Indian machine of which he has the agency, is going to receive its large share of patronage. The 1914 Indian is electrically started for such a machine, and it has many other devices for comfort, convenience and safety.

Other prominent features of the new models are strengthened frames and forks with drop forged fittings throughout, longer wheel-base, more secure engine fastening, new cam design, giving increase in power, heavier motor shafts and inlet valve rocker arm mechanism, new trussed handlebar with irreversible binder post, heavier driving members of two-speed gear and improved change gear control, larger tires, new padded saddles, new carrier steel rear stand, new luggage carrier, new metal tool box with large capacity and spring lock.

Always foremost in the rendering of prompt and efficient mechanical service to Indian owners, the Indian organization has perfected plans whereby Indian users exclusively, wherever they may be located, will enjoy overnight service the coming season. Seven American branches and 2500 dealers will enable the Indian mounted motorcyclist in 1914 to command 24-hour service, the quickest and most complete ever offered the legions of motorcyclists.

For further particulars, see George H. Bachelder, Postoffice square.

In 1913 there were 77,000 motor vehicles of all kinds registered in Pennsylvania, of which 14,000 were motorcycles. Says T. C. Doherty, registrar of motor vehicles of that state, "Which we think is going some, both for Pennsylvania, and for the Ford Motor company."

But then we suppose somebody has to drive a heavy, clumsy car to make us fully appreciate the light Ford.

ELECTRIC AUTO SHOW IN BOSTON
An unusual and magnificent motor car show event is scheduled to take place at the Copley Plaza in Boston on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in the form of an electric automobile salon. This event has been planned and arranged with a great deal of care and with a view to making it the greatest and most attractive affair of its kind thus far attempted. It is most interesting from the fact that it is unusual. Quite a number of Lowell people, as well as those of other cities, will go to Boston to attend the salon on the first three days of next week.

IN LOCAL AUTO CIRCLES

News of Interest From Dealers—
Beginning of 1914 Campaign—
Big Sales Predicted

This week, as the reader will doubtless notice, The Sun has put more than the usual time and labor into its Saturday automobile feature, and with results that spell success. The importance of the page as a medium between the dealer and the public has been emphasized and proven, and the automobile men are, no doubt, fully alive to the advantages afforded them. The campaign preceding the big spring business should be well under way.

This season promises to be an unusually large one for the automobile salesman in Lowell, both because of their own activities in advertising and demonstrating, and because of the added excellence of the cars themselves. The manufacturers have made their product even more attractive and more convenient than ever before by the addition of new devices for safety and ease of control, and in general outward appearance, the 1914 cars are real masterpieces of motor car construction.

The Omnipresent Ford

Mr. S. L. Rochette, proprietor of the Lowell Motor Mart is keeping the Ford cars before the people in a manner that is bound to bring a record season. His efforts combined with the general approval of previous customers who have derived entire satisfaction from their purchases are accomplishing big results. Mr. Rochette is truly one of the most active of the local dealers. He predicts bigger sales than ever this season.

Boston Auto Supply Company

Mr. McGarry of the Boston Auto Supply company, in Bridge street, is an extremely busy man at present, for he has a great deal of repair work coming in constantly. His success in vulcanizing and general repairing is reaping its reward. Mr. McGarry, who has a really attractive establishment, is speaking in particular of the repairs which he is selling now. These are fitted into the interior of a worn shoe, and extend the wear of the tire a great deal longer than would otherwise be the case. They are pleasing many who do not at this time care to purchase brand new tires for the remainder of the season.

Burning Out Cylinders

Mr. Chandler of the Sawyer Carriage company in Worthen street today explained to the writer, the method of burning out cylinders, and the benefits it affords.

SOME MOTOR DON'TS
Undoubtedly, the heir to the throne of success is the man who owns and uses a good automobile, said Thomas J. Fay, past president of the Society of Automobile Engineers. The automobile is the long stroke, and it is installed in the system of the fellow who drives from his home to his office and back every week day in the year; from his car to the medicine chest; from the fever-infected bickerings of barter to the nerve-racking wooded glades; from the haunts of the onward-rushing corporation to the place a league away, where nature is now bedecked in autumn-colored verdure.

The automobile—let it be one make or another. The least-to-be-admired product of all is well worth the having—the best is heaven on earth.

At this time of the year, when the more than half of the car owners are fretting about the possible mischief that lack of frost may be up for, some owners, like nature's small fry, would undergo a monotonous liberation, placing their automobiles on dead storage, it but remains for the wise ones to have a care.

Don't depend upon water in the radiator—use half and half, water and glycerine, or like proportions of de-natured alcohol.

Don't purchase inferior "motor spirits" (gasoline)—the heavier products are non-volatile in cold weather. Don't use viscous lubricating oil—get a standard brand of winter-body automobile lubricating medium, in sealed cans.

Don't run on partly deflated tires—they will crack in the cold.

Don't let dirt accumulate at the joints at any point—it will form a hard crust and cut like a knife-edge. Don't neglect the springs—they make a noise, crying for graphite grease between the plates.

Don't fold the top down while it is wet—the fabric will freeze and crack. Don't let mud fresh from the road keep an appointment with depreciation on the "finish" of the body—it will elude with the color.

Don't keep up a high speed on frozen and rough roads—battle-scarred tires will be the product.

Don't leave the lap robes at home—they long to struggle up to you in the cold.

Don't risk roadside repairs—cold weather work of this character is biting and bad. Don't forget the filter—Maravulized lubrication puts the "sweet" in the running qualities in the power plant.

We can't say it too often, the Ford is a better car sold at a lower price.

The Ford Motor Car company built during the past twelve months something like 200,000 cars. We think it means something.

Nagel, formerly a salesman employed by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., would be the prosecution's principal witness at the trial of Herbert L. Wardner, an architect of this city, and William H. and Frank South, local representatives of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., who are charged with conspiracy to defraud the city of New Bedford in connection with the construction of a new high school building. Nagel, according to the district attorney's office, received a check for $2600 drawn on the company which was to have been turned over to Wardner, but the salesman is said to have kept the check until he appeared before the grand jury when he delivered it to the prosecutor, who will use it as evidence.

It is alleged that Wardner was to receive from the company $2600, part of the difference between the actual and the contract price of glass to be used in the new building.

HON. E. M. TUCKER HOME

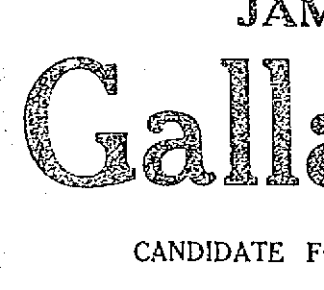

HAD PLEASANT TRIP TO EUROPE WHERE HIS SON IS A STUDENT—RETURN VOYAGE ROUGH

Hon. E. M. Tucker of this city returned from a trip abroad, yesterday, on the Manitou from Belgium. Mr. Tucker left Lowell with his family about 10 weeks ago. His son, Parker Tucker, is at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland, and Mr. Tucker's family will remain there for some time. They plan to arrive home about the first of the new year. Mr. Tucker and his family sailed on the White Star line to Liverpool. From there they went to London, Paris, Holland, Belgium and Switzerland. Speaking of his trip, today, Mr. Tucker said he has been across eight times, but never as much as on this one. He was extremely rough entering the Atlantic from the English channel and for two days the big steamer made only 55 miles a day. He was one of five Americans aboard. Most of the passengers were Belgians, weavers, coming here to work in the mills. Some of them were bound for Lawrence, others for Maine, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

The Manitou docked in Boston at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and Mr. Tucker was home at 6 o'clock. He allows that was making pretty good time.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Mr. Frank O'Brien, of Common street last evening when a large number of his friends gathered and presented him a handsome and valuable watch. Mr. O'Brien responded to the presentation address with an appropriate speech of acceptance and gratitude. There was a pleasing musical program consisting of solos by Mr. Shugrie, choruses by a quartet composed of Messrs. Hart, Maloney, Ryan and Lyons and a cornet and violin duet by Messrs. Burdison and Jordan. The party broke up after a most enjoyable evening.

NO COMPARISON
The light, airy, sanitary offices of the new Sun building compared with those of any other office building in Lowell are so much more up to date that not only the occupants but their patrons are delighted with them.

JAMES J. Gallagher

CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

Explains Two of Mr. Barrett's Inconsistencies and Unwise Management

No. 1—Mr. Barrett in his speeches says that the fire department was the only one which asked for a less appropriation in 1913 than they received in 1912. Mr. Gallagher says yes that is half true, as the fire department received $5,000 less in 1913 than in 1912, but Mr. Barrett does not say that even with this cut, the appropriations to department were $25,000 more in the two years, than was allowed Chief Heister in any previous two years, thereby forcing the other departments to borrow money to pay their running expenses.

Why does he not apply the same principles in the water department and instead of borrowing $75,000 and paying $33,000 interest on same, use the revenues and not borrow unnecessarily?

In the fire department he gets extra appropriation and buys Autos, while in the water department, where, from finance reports, it would appear that there was sufficient revenues outside loan-account, he goes out and borrows money.

No. 2—Mr. Barrett at a meeting May 1st contending against Mr. Gallagher's argument "that loan was not necessary," said: "What would we do if the 30 in. main crossing the river at Alder street should break in the river bed?" Mr. Gallagher's answer is: "Turn on the valve in the 24 in. RESERVE MAIN THAT IS LOCATED ABOUT 15 FEET DOWN THE RIVER bed from the 30 in. main; the purpose of it is there for." And if perchance anything happens both, you have the High Service 12 in. main that crosses the river at the same place about 5 feet away from the 24 in. RESERVE MAIN, and the 12 in. supply pipe that crosses the Central bridge.

WHO WAS HONEST IN HIS ARGUMENT, MR. BARRETT OR MR. GALLAGHER?

JAMES J. GALLAGHER, 135 Commercial Street.

DEMAND FOR SEWERS

Concrete base, will be the paving used and the distance to be paved is about 225 feet. The estimated cost of the work is $100,000.

The city engineer is preparing an estimate for the paving of Thorneville street from Middlesex street to Appleton street. The bill was macadamized about three years ago but the traffic is so great there that the macadam could not stand the pressure.

The paving to be laid next year will be granite blocks with joints ironed, the same as the Gorham street on the north side of the city. Granite blocks with joints ironed are said to constitute the best paving for hills inasmuch as it affords a good foothold for horses.

CAPTURE OF CULIACAN MAY RESULT IN NEW COMMONWEALTH

WELFARE IN MEXICO
NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, Nov. 15.—In the eyes of all Mexicans on this side of the line the capture yesterday of Culiacan, capital of Sinaloa, welded a new commonwealth within Mexico, a confederacy which will rapidly expand if the constitutionalist armies can fight their way southward to the time being. The Mexicans holding contrary beliefs generally are on the other side of the line, out of dangerous proximity to the popular opinion.

Culiacan was the last capital of the northern and Pacific coast states of Mexico to fall to the rebel army. The constitutionalists now control a wedge of Mexico, including the country's three largest cities, Sonora, Sinaloa and Durango, with the territory of Tepic. The capital of all the time being at least, is the little "dobe" village across the street from the United States with its aduana, or custom house, for the national government headquarters.

White House of Carranza
This aduana is of brick and stands out distinguished as the "white house" of General Carranza, the provisional president. Likewise it is his capitol his war and diplomatic headquarters and his judicial tribunal.

As "constitutionalist" president of Mexico he hears in one of "its" rooms the propositions of Washington through Special Envoy William Bayard Hale. As lawyer and judge, as he was his home state of Coahuila before he became president in the days of Madero, he administers justice. In another room as chief of the constitutionalist forces he dictates orders to adjutants and plans future campaigns for his field commanders. A short distance from the house lies the town's assembly hall. Last night there was a ball celebrating the victory of Oregon and his 4000 men at Culiacan.

William Bayard Hale was a spectator there a few minutes as a guest of General Carranza's agents in Washington who came here to consult with his chief in relation to the parley now in progress.

The taking of Culiacan opened the telegraph line between that city and the "ad interim" capital. It also opened the line of railroad, Sinaloa, and the only important northwestern city remaining in the hands of Huerta's forces.

Telegraphic communication was also opened with Torreon on the Central line of the national railway below Culiacan. Which is the only important northwestern city remaining in the hands of Huerta's forces.

Reports from the constitutionalist commanders operating south, east and west led Carranza and his lieutenants to declare today that the revolutionists controlled half the area of Mexico.

HUERTA MAY JOIN CARRANZA IN REFUSING MEDIATION BY UNITED STATES
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 15.—In view of Venustiano Carranza's repudiation of mediation by or alliance with the United States, Provisional President Huerta can do no less than follow him in his expression of patriotic sentiment and maintain unaltered his dignified attitude toward Washington. This statement was made at the national palace today.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE
The weekly debate of the High school debating club was held in room 20 of the high school building yesterday afternoon. Much interest was shown in the debate and the members of the opposition teams acquitted themselves very creditably.

The question of the debate was "Should Football Be Supported at the High School." The affirmative was upheld by George Gookin, Arthur E. O'Brien and Walter Wilson, while Helen Choate, Mrs. Garden and Helen McAlonan supported the negative. Mr. Irish was the judge and at the end of the arguments declared the debate a draw.

Mr. Irish addressed the members of the society, congratulating members of the opposing side for their work and the society in general on the interest manifested. He spoke of the recent request of the school board for money to advance football at the high school, and gave a general survey of the situation which had been the topic of the argument.

COMING C. Y. M. L. EVENTS
The gymnasium of the Catholic Young Men's League has been equipped with some new apparatus, the chest weights which were recently ordered, having arrived and are being installed at present. They will be ready for use in a short time. The gymnasium is now a finely equipped one and very adequate for the needs of the society. However, it is expected that other new apparatus will be purchased and installed in the near future.

The evening classes have enjoyed great success during their first week, and the number of those who have appeared to take advantage of them has reached and exceeded 30. More are applying constantly and the school should enjoy rapid growth.

The date of the "Lowell Night" which was to have been observed in Lawrence by the members of the Catholic Young Men's club of that city, at which the members of the Young Men's League were to be guests of the down river society, has been changed from Thursday to some time early in January, owing to other arrangements by the local club for the first date. On Thursday next, the C. Y. M. L. will hold a joint social and smoke talk with the members of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's in the gymnasium. There will be an interesting tournament of games, including pool, billiards, cards, checkers, etc., and a general social good time for all. There have on former occasions, proven most enjoyable.

SPENCER GUILTY

Slayer of Mrs. Rexroat, Who Confessed to 29 Murders, Sentenced

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Henry Spencer, confessed slayer of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, a dancing teacher, was yesterday found guilty of murder by a jury at Wheaton, a suburb.

The death penalty was fixed by the jury, which returned a verdict after a little more than two hours' deliberation. The first ballot was 11 to 1 for the death penalty and the second ballot was unanimously in favor of sending Spencer to the gallows.

Spencer was arrested Oct. 5, accused of having lured Mrs. Rexroat to Wayne and placing her body on the railroad tracks at the suburb of Wheaton. The body was found early on the morning of Sept. 27.

Immediately after his arrest Spencer began a wholesale confession in which he declared he had murdered 29 persons, most of them women and nearly all of them in the suburbs of Chicago. Though the police proved that Spencer could not have committed many of these murders, they still maintain the belief that he killed at least one or two of the women in addition to the dancing teacher.

Ever since his arrest Spencer has insisted that he believed in the death penalty. When his trial began Monday, however, his attitude in the court room was one of such violence that the prosecutor saw a well-defined attempt to establish the belief that the defendant was insane. The jury refused to be moved by these efforts.

Spencer was the only witness to take the stand for the defense. He testified yesterday and for 15 minutes he held the attention of the court while he cursed and reviled his own counsel and the state's attorney.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—School Committeeman Michael L. Corcoran, Jr., of South Boston and ex-School Committeeman David D. Scannell of Jamaica Plain are the Public School association candidates for the school board, Committee Corcoran's first term expires this year. Dr. Scannell retired three years ago and has consented to stand as the P. S. A. candidate to fill the vacancy caused by Dr. Thomas F. Leen's retirement.

The candidates were the unanimous choice of the association at the meeting at headquarters at 101 Tremont street.

The only opponent to the P. S. A. candidates up to the present time is Dr. Frederick L. Hoxan of Dorchester who has taken out independent nomination papers. His friends are confident he will receive the endorsement of the democratic city committee.

Committeeman Corcoran who is a woolen merchant, is a graduate of the Lincoln school and the evening high school. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and was for many years director and for two years president of the Young Men's Catholic Association of Boston College.

Guilford white in pursuit of game. This charge is brought under a special Maine statute enacted to cover such cases. Through his attorney Cable entered a plea of not guilty, and without hearing the evidence Judge Hiram Gerrish found probable cause for holding Cable for the grand jury. Bail was fixed at $1000 and this was furnished by James H. Fierstein, a prominent Brooklyn civil engineer and step-brother of the respondent.

Although some misunderstanding the warrant was issued against Lucien Cable, a brother of Cornelius, but the authorities were not aware of the error until the arraignment of the man yesterday. Judge Charles W. Dodge, Foxcroft and Patrick H. Gillin, counsel for Cable, consented to having it changed, though no evidence was taken before the court. The following story of the shooting was told by Guilford Attorney James H. Hudson of Guilford, who investigated and took the statements of all concerned.

Last Tuesday Nelson McNaughton, one of the owners of the sporting camps at Schoodic, where the shooting occurred, started with Dodge on a hunting trip in a canoe. They left the camp in the morning and went to wait along some old logging roads and runways. Soon after Cable and Percy B. McCord of Brooklyn, also hunting, left the camp in another canoe and landed on the lake shore.

At noon McNaughton and Dodge started in a clump of bushes belonging to the woods since July. He came to Maine after having been honorably discharged from the Regular Army, where he served in the Philippines.

McNaughton was attired in a gray sweater and slate colored hat. Dodge wore a bright red sweater and a black cap. McNaughton leaned forward to pick up his pack when Cable, seeing the moving gray figure through the bushes, mistook it for the deer and fired. The bullet passed McNaughton and entered Dodge's head, killing him instantly.

Cable is in great grief over the affair. His brother, Robert Cable, is a partner in a clump of bushes belonging to the woods since July. He came to Maine after having been honorably discharged from the Regular Army, where he served in the Philippines.

STOLEN FOR FAMILY

Man, Victim of Series of Misfortunes, Told Wife He Borrowed Money

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—A domestic tragedy was revealed yesterday afternoon in the Roxbury court when Mrs. Sydney J. Jamison, wife of the man who has confessed to the police having entered many houses and stolen diamonds and jewelry, heard for the first time of the downfall of her husband.

In their little home on Boylston street last night the woman unfolded a strange story to a reporter, in which pathos and deception were blended. With two sick children to support, and herself too frail to do heavy work, the little wife of the accused man faces a hard problem.

An almost incredible series of misfortunes has befallen the family. One accident after another has prevented Jamison from obtaining work, and last the desperate plight of his family drove him to steal in order to clothe and feed his wife and children. The last steady employment that Jamison had was brought to an end when he fell from the fourth floor to the basement of the Richmond court apartments, on Beacon street, where he was employed as a janitor. He fractured his right arm, and part of the bone had to be replaced by a silver plate. When he was well enough to seek employment, he was stricken with appendicitis, and spent three weeks in the hospital. About six weeks ago he was offered employment and a few days before he was to report for work, he cut his right hand so badly that he was forced again to go to the hospital. While he was incapacitated from work, his little family was in dire straits and to make matters worse, the youngest child, 11-2 years old, was taken sick, and a few days later, his four-year-old boy was struck by a car and seriously injured.

Soon after this last misfortune, Jamison came home, and putting some money into his wife's hands, told her that he had borrowed it to pay for some food and medicine, and new shoes for the baby. A few days later, he brought some more "borrowed" money to buy a dress for herself and to pay the rent. After this, his affairs went a little better with the family, while Jamison searched for some honest work.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Jamison learned for the first time that her husband, who had always been so kind to his wife and babies, was a confessed thief, with a probable sentence over his head.

Jamison was placed under arrest Thursday afternoon by a patrolman of the East Dedham street station, who was called to a South End pawnshop by the proprietor, who suspected that the gems offered by the man were stolen. The articles which Jamison was offering for pawn, it is said, were a part of the stolen goods earlier in the day from the apartment of Della Buckley, 133 Cedar street, Roxbury. Entrance to the apartment was effected by means of false keys. Most of the jewelry taken from this apartment has been recovered by the police, except for a few trinkets which Jamison claims to have lost.

BIRD EXPENDED $30,383

PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE FILES STATEMENT OF CAMPAIGN EXPENSES—OTHER RETURNS

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Related returns of campaign expenses of Charles Sumner Bird, progressive candidate for governor, reached the secretary of state's office at 4.45 yesterday afternoon, showing total expenditures of $30,383.12.

The time for filing statements of campaign expenses expired at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, but since then delayed returns have come from numerous successful and unsuccessful candidates.

Mr. Bird's greatest expenditure was $5000, paid to the progressive state committee in four installments. For postage he paid $175.56; the J. W. Downman company, for rent on automobiles and repairs, $3289.47; Rapid Press Press, $3581; Postmaster E. C. Mansfield, Boston, $232.85; Encouragements, $1255.61; and C. H. Gray, for preparing and distributing literature, $1000.

Other payments were: North Adams Transcript, $350; Practical Politics, $125; Elizabeth A. Joyce, for mailing, $126.30; Richard Washburn Child, for distributing literature, $340.70; The Boston Herald, $357.21; Edward J. Quinn, for preparing literature, $500; New England Telephone and Telegraph company, $455.95; Western Union Telegraph company, $255.60; advertising, $58; J. P. Ryan, secretary, $605.40. Minor bills for distributing literature amounted to $1000, and for hotel bills Mr. Bird paid $475.

Charles Henry Davis, Mr. Bird's closest friend, who managed his state-wide automobile tour and was with the candidate throughout the campaign, yesterday took out blanks for filing returns of what he and his family, as was understood at the state house, contributed to Mr. Bird's campaign. Last year the contribution of the Davis family was about $24,000.

Other late returns received yesterday included those of John E. White of Tisbury, state auditor, $201.33; Harrison H. Atwood of Boston, representative, $145.35; George W. Bray of Chelsea, county commissioner, $85; Timothy J. A'Hearn, representative, $112.25; Chas. N. Atwood, representative, $50; William H. AGAINST SLAVERY

Law Passed Today by the Philippine National Assembly

MANILA, Nov. 15.—An anti-slavery law was passed today by the Philippine National assembly after a heated debate. The measure which was framed by William H. Phillips, the insular auditor, reaffirms the old Spanish statutes against slavery and incorporates the American laws. The vote in opposition to the amendment of the measure was small, in spite of the warmth of the discussion. Representative Clarence Miller of Minnesota left for the United States today. In an interview he declared he was in favor of an elective senate for the Philippines and said he believed the Philippines had made more progress in the last 15 years than any other nation in the world.

BLOWN FROM CAB

Engineer's Ankles Were Caught in Trestle Preventing 60 Foot Fall

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—George W. Paxton, a Pennsylvania railroad engineer, yesterday was blown from his cab on a Pottsville-bound train by an explosion of steam, and then his life was saved from a 60-foot drop by the merest chance of his ankles catching on trestle supports. He was severely scalped.

The train was passing over the high trestle at 21st-second street, when Paxton noticed the rapidly-falling steam gauge. Before he could learn why there came an explosion and the engineer was catapulted out of the cab and onto the trestle. His ankles caught between the wedges or else he would have fallen to certain death.

While he hung suspended, Sergeant McFallen of the 61st-Inf. and Thompson street police station crawled through the dense mass of steam and carried him away. He was swinging like a pendulum when the policeman rescued him.

When Paxton was hurried out of the window the fireman, Harry Brady, brought the train to a stop and then leaped just as the pipes burst and the scolding steam came out in clouds. For a while the situation was considered dangerous, and the passenger coaches were uncoupled and backed away. Eight other trains were stalled for a while.

Paxton is 60 years old and lives at 624 North Thirty-seventh street.

WOMAN TO BUY CACTUS RANCH

A woman, 74 years old, is to establish the only spineless cactus ranch in the southwest. She is Mrs. E. V. Pickrell of El Paso, and she intends to go into this peculiar business on a wholesale scale. She is enthusiastic over the proposition and has but recently returned from California, where she thoroughly studied and investigated the spineless cactus, its growth and uses. Mrs. Pickrell has ordered 100 of Burbank samples and will plant these on her farm near El Paso, and later increase the amount. Each plant will grow 25 slabs a year, and make excellent and cheap fodder for horses, cattle, hogs and even poultry. Little has been done with the plant so far except in an experimental way, but Mrs. Pickrell sees an opportunity to make it pay.

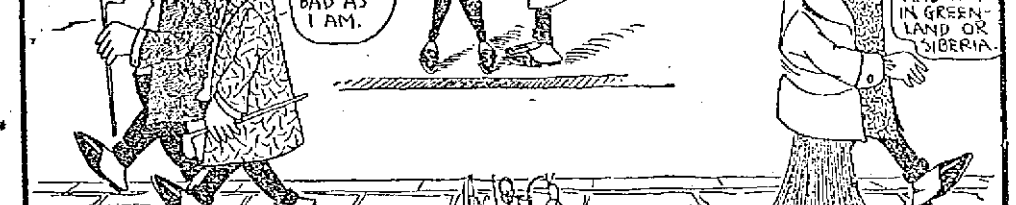

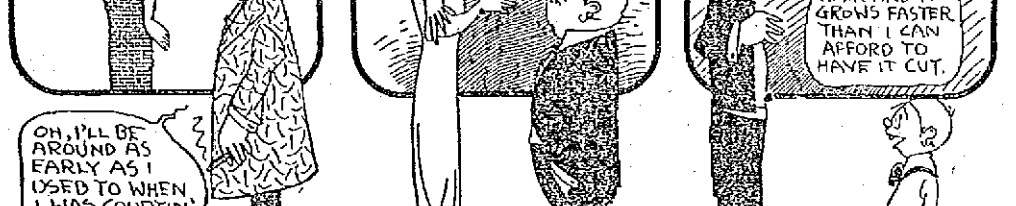

The spineless cactus is a semi-tropical plant and will not grow or thrive where the temperature reaches zero. That low a temperature, however, is rarely reached in El Paso. In addition to the slabs used for fodder, the plant also bears a fruit that is pleasing to the taste. It resembles the orange. The plant also may be cut into strips and fried or boiled. Those who have sampled the cactus food have found it appetizing. Luther Burbank not long ago gave a cactus plant to the United States government, which all the dishes served consisted of the spineless cactus cooked in various forms.

A test was made at the Burbank ranch recently with this cactus. One cow was pastured on the spineless cactus and another was fed on alfalfa. The animal which ate the cactus produced one-third more butter than the alfalfa fed cow. To prove the value of the experiment the cows' food was then reversed and with like results. Hogs fatten when given cactus alone.

RODRIGUE MIGNAULT MORE FACTS ON LOWELL FINANCES

Candidate for

MAYOR

Every city in Massachusetts is compelled by law to erect and maintain a Hospital for Contagious Diseases.

Lowell has not yet complied with the law; is liable to a fine for such evasion.

Our city fathers have considered for two years the preliminary question of choosing a site for such an institution.

After two years of "the best there is in them," they have recently asked the State Board of Health to come to town and choose for them.

"Home rule, thou art a blessing."

If a whole municipal council votes itself incapable of choosing even a site for a hospital ordered by law, how will it muster enough energy to provide a Public Hall, demanded by a large plurality of the voters years ago?

Will they again invite state aid?

And then again, for Public Baths?

And AGAIN, AGAIN, for other public improvements, such as a Public Market, etc.?

Why not a permanent state commission, without salary, to solve local problems for our salaried officials?

What becomes of the motto: "Lowell the City of Opportunities?"

AUCTION SALE

Friday, Nov. 21, at 2.30 P. M.

AT ANDERSON'S BARN, WEST FORREST STREET, LOWELL, MASS.

The Highland electric car or the Chelmsford street car are but five minutes' walk from the sale. Get off at Forrest street.

I shall sell at public auction, 11 cows that are young, good size, and extra heavy milkers. Cows in this lot gave 25 to 30 quarts when fresh as Mr. Coughlin bought the best cows he could find, and they have proved good ones. Some are fresh, some to come in soon.

One bay horse that weighs about 1200 lbs., that is a good harness horse, sound and kind; one new farm wagon, horse hay rake, hay tedder, plows, cultivators, spring tooth harrow, smoothing harrow, whitetrees, chains and other small tools.

Fifteen tons of English hay, a new 75-ton silo and about 25 tons of ensilage, 12 cows, Comfort steel tie-ups, lot of manure, one low-down covered wagon, Democrat wagon, carry top carryall, two sets of express harnesses, etc.

This is a first-class lot of personal property and everything is in good condition and will be sold to the highest bidder for cash, as Mr. Coughlin goes to California. Per order JAMES COUGHLIN.

As a candidate for your MAYORALTY NOMINATION, as a fellow citizen, born and bred in Lowell—I want to talk to you about our finances and city conditions.

First of all, good and clean streets, well conducted schools and a well managed police force, are the rights of all citizens.

They are not properly subjects for pledges, and when made by candidates, are ridiculous and preposterous—and I am not offering anything in that direction.

But I do want to say that unless the people of Lowell begin to take a stand against the present run of wild cat financing at city hall, it is only a question when, besides having to borrow for the school house coal, we will have to go further.

DO YOU KNOW

That we are borrowing $520,000 this year as against $181,000 in 1910?

That our net debt October 1, 1913, was $2,845,794.65, a half million more than in 1910?

That our annual interest charges on city debts are running close to $150,000 a year?

Is this prosperity?—Is this good management, when we are borrowing on bond issues to pay old bills?

What would you think of a business corporation with such a showing? This is not hysteria. These are not sidewalk discussions. THESE ARE FACTS.

These figures represent the price we all have had to pay for banking, newspaper and liquor interest government. Isn't it time for a change?

As a business man, who knows that prosperity for a man, corporation or a city does not mean spending more money than you earn, renewing notes instead of paying them when due, I ask your support.

DR. McCARTY

FOR MAYOR

TO THE VOTERS

Gentlemen:—I appeal to all the voters. It is no concern to me what your belief may be, what your position in life may be, whether humble or exalted. I claim that I am well within my rights when I come out, fair and square, and ask the help and votes of all kinds.

I am broad and liberal enough. I am trained, experienced and educated. I am absolutely free from all kinds of combines, gangs, money power and all other control. It is not necessary for me to try and "graft." I can devote my whole time to the position. In short I can, and will, be mayor of the whole city.

The government of Lowell, involving the management of $1,000,000 a year, requires something more than a boy's control, no matter how clever or promising that boy may be. Look over the candidates for commissioners, nineteen of them, and it must be very evident to you that you must select with care, and that the man you elect as Mayor must be able to fill the position with firmness and fairness to all and still be a gentleman.

Now consider the candidates for Mayor, compare them one with the other, study their honesty, ability, experience, courage and freedom from all entanglements of any kind, and I feel that you will agree with me that I am justified in claiming that I measure up to the required standard for the position.

I have a strong faith that right makes might, and in that faith I will make it my duty, as Mayor, as I honestly understand that duty. I again ask you voters when you cast your vote next Tuesday to be sure and give me your help. Ask your relatives and friends to vote for me. I have from the beginning sought the help of the voters and from the response that I have got from all over the city I feel sure that I am a winner.

MARTIN F. CONLEY

CANDIDATE FOR

Alderman

To the Citizens of Lowell:—Permit me to respectfully ask for your support at the primaries next Tuesday. In presenting my candidacy, I submit for your consideration the following:

Am qualified by EXPERIENCE and TRAINING in public life to discharge the duties of the office in an acceptable manner.

I recognize the needs of the city, in providing clean, economical and efficient administration of public affairs, and pledge myself to an earnest endeavor to satisfy in this respect.

Government, after all, is a question of men. The best GUARANTEE of my fitness for the office I seek is my past public service, admitted by all to have been clean and honorable, and marked with ability and a right conception of public duty.

The holding of public office carries with it honor and responsibility. Honor to the community and the public official by a proper discharge of responsibilities. I am not seeking the office at street corners, by abuse and vilification of my opponents, as my sole qualification to hold public office. I want your support, but by clean and wholesome methods only.

A Boston paper has the following to say of my legislative service:—

"Loyalty to home industry was almost a passion with Martin F. Conley, a bright and vigorous young member from Lowell. From the first day of the session until its close he worked like a beaver to secure the passage of every act which would benefit his own city, while no other member was more diligent than he in finding measures which threatened the welfare of his city, its citizens or its industries."

As a member of the legislature, I served on important committees, such as Public Charitable Institutions, Public Health, Public Lighting, Election Laws and Drainage, and as a member of the Public Health Committee, was able to effectively prevent the pollution of the Merrimack river.

As an alderman, I will serve the public interests with fidelity and credit to the City of Lowell and myself.

I RESPECTFULLY URGE YOUR SUPPORT OF MY CANDIDACY AT THE PRIMARIES.

Judge Hadley Regrets
Mr. Murphy's Retirement

"I regretted very much when I read of the retirement of Dennis J. Murphy from the chairmanship of the board of health. I have a very high estimation of the services which he has rendered the city in his chairmanship on this board, for I have had many chances to appreciate it from the manner in which he has presented his cases here in court. He has always worked up his prosecutions for violation of the rules of the board of health, and of the city and state laws in a most painstaking and efficient manner. He has given freely of his time and ability to the city in his position as chairman of this board. And he is a man who has never spared himself in the least in his endeavors to prevent infringements on the welfare of the city in violations of the rules for the preservation of the public health. It is hard for any one not entirely conversant with all his work in this department to estimate what the real worth of his services to the city has been. But I do know that he has worked hard and faithfully and long in the service of the city and has given the services of an exceptionally bright and efficient young man, for whom I have the highest regard."

MY RECORD IS MY ONLY ARGUMENT

In seeking re-election a man's best argument is his public record. Every fair minded citizen is urged to look into my public acts and judge for himself.

ISN'T THAT FAIR ENOUGH? Political enemies have tried in vain to find a flaw in my administration, while representing YOU MR. VOTER, but have found instead a record over which they cannot even cast the slightest suspicion.

THE FACT THAT MY ENEMIES CANNOT FIND A WEAKNESS IN MY ADMINISTRATION SHOULD MEAN SOMETHING TO EVERY VOTER WHO STANDS FOR "A SQUARE DEAL."

I have given the people a business administration. I have improved the efficiency of the departments under my control at least 25 per cent. I have been fair to all. Nominate me and I can be elected.
